THE

FORC'D MARRIAGE,

OR THE

Jealous Bridegroom,

A

TRAGI-COMEDY,

As it is Acted by His

Majesties Servants

ATTHE

QUEENS Theatre.

Written by A. BEHN.

Va Mon ensant! prend ta fortune---

Printed for James Knapton, at the Queens-Head in St. Paul's Church-Tard, 1688.

HOMENAMA COROLL

perone Pudescent

TRACI-COMEDY

e madride animinate

OUTEHNS Plante.

Victors by A. D.E.H.N.
Va Won enfant prend in forman

Princed for James Hadron, at the Queens of all the Pauls Cherich Tand, 2688.

PROLOGUE

G Allants, our Poets have of late so us'd ye,
In Play and Prologue too so much abus'd ye, That should we beg your aids, I justly fear, T'are so Incens'd you'd hardly lend it here. But when against a common Foe we arm, Each will affift to guard his own concern. Women, those charming Victors, in whose eyes Lye all their Arts, and their Artilleries, Not being contented with the Wounds they made, Would by new Stratagems our Lives invade. Beauty alone goes now at too cheap rates, And therefore they like Wife and Politick States, Court a new power that may the old supply, To keep as well as gain the Victory. They'le joyn the Force of Wit to Beauty now, And so maintain the right they have in you; If the vain Sex this priviledge should boaft, Past cure of a declining face we're lost. Tou'le never know the blis of change, this Art Retrieves (when Beauty fades) the wandring heart, And though the Airy Spirits move no more, Wit still invites as Beauty did before. To day one of their party ventures out, Not with design to Conquer, but to Scout, Discourage but this first attempt, and then and small sund They'le hardly dare to fally out again. The Poetess too, they say, bas spyes abroad, Which have dispos'd themselves in every road, now gar of the I'th' upper Box, Pit, Galleries, every face You find disguis'd in a Black Kelvet Case.

My life on't is her Spy on purpose sent,
To hold you in a wanton Complement;
That so you may not Censure what she's writ,
Which done, they'l face you down't was full of wit.
Thus, whilst some common prize you hope to win,
You let the Tyrant Victor enter in.
I beg to day you'd lay that humour by,
Till your rencounter at the Nursery;
Where they like Centinels, from Duty free,
May meet and wanton with the Enemy.

Enter an Actress.

How hast thou labourd to subvert in vain, What one poor smile of ours calls home again? Woman pointing Can any see that Glorious fight, and fay to the Ladies. A Woman Shall not Victor prove to day: Who is't that to their Beauty would submit; And fo maintain And yet refuse the Fetters of their Wit? If the vain Se He tells you tales of Stratagems and Spys; Can they need Art that have such pow'rful Eyes? Believe me, Gallants, he's abus d you all; Retrieves (when There's not a Vizard in our whole Cabal: And though th Those are but Pickeroons that scour for prey, And catch up all they meet with in their way; Who can no Captives take, for all they do Io day one v Not with delign Is Pillage ye, then gladly let you go; Ours scorn the petty spoils, and do prefer int and symmon il They le bardly dare The Glory, not the Interest of the VVar: But yet our Forces shall obliging prove, Imposing nought but constancy in love; That's all our Aim, and when we have it too, Well Sacrifice it all to pleasure you.

EPI-

EPILOGUE by a Woman.

We charg'd you boldly in our first Advance, And gave the Onset A-la-mode-de-France, As each had been a Joan of Orleance.

Like them our Heat as soon abated too;
Alas, we could not vanquish with a show,
Much more than that goes to the conquering you.

The trial though, will recompence the pain, It having wisely taught us how to reign; 'Tis Beauty only can our Power maintain.

But yet as tributary Kings we own
It is by you that we possess that Throne,
VVhere had we Victors been, w'ad reign'd alone.

And we have promis'd what we could not do, A fault, methinks, might be forgiven too, Since 'tis but what we learnt of some of you.

But we are upon equal treatment yet,
For neither Conquer, since we both submit;
You, to our Beauty bow; VVe to your VVit.

has my Billiog that a "glass" of a sum to a syne. The table of "Ignation less a state (sensor po-

to do as their made person

Dramatis

Mow Westwood

Alfumnot a Mi

Mrs. Clough

Dramatis Persona.

Mr. Weftwood. King. Philander bis Son betrothed to Erminia. Mr. Smith. Alcippus Favourite, in love with Erminia. Mr. Betterton. Orguilous, late General Father to Erminia. Mr. Norris. Alcander, friend to the Prince, in love with Mr. Young. Amiuta. Pisare, friend to the young General Alcip-Mr. Cademan. pus. Falatius, a Fantastick Courtier, Mr. Angel. La Bree, his man. Cleantins, Servant to the Prince, and Brother to Mr. Crosby. Ifillia. Gallatea, Daughter to the King. Mrs. Jennings. Erminia, Daughter to Orgulious, espous'd to the Mrs. Betterton. Prince. Aminta, Sifter to Pifare, in love with Alcan-Mrs. Wright. der. Olinda, Sifter to Alcander, Maid of Honour to Mrs. Lee. the Princess. Ifilia, Sifter to Chemistr, Woman to Brini-Mrs. Clough. wid. Lyfette, Woman to Aminta. Pages and Arsendants. Da today and 211 out?

Scene within the Court of FRANCE.

Eur we are upon equal treatment jet,

For neither Conquer, since we both submit 3. You, 10 car Beauty bone; Pre to your Frit.

THE

FORCD MARRIAGE

ORTHE

Jealous Bridegroom.

ACT L SCENE L

Enter King, Philander, Orgulious, Alcippus, Alcander, Pifauro, Cleontius, Fallatius; And Officers.

Rin. I O W shall I now divide my Gratitude;
Between a Son, and one that has obliged me,
Beyond the common duty of a subject?
Phi. Believe me, Sir, he merits all your Bounty

I only took example by his Actions; And all the part o'th' victory which I gain'd, Was but deriv'd from him.

Kin. Brave youth, whose Infant-years did bring us. Conquests. And as thou grew'st to man, thou grew'st in glory, And hast arriv'd to such a pitch of it; As all the slothful youth that shall succeed thee, Shall meet reproaches of thy early Actions; When men shall say, thus did the brave alcoppus; And that great Name shall every soul inspire, With Emulation, to arrive at something, That's worthy of Example.

Alcip. I must confess I had the honour, Sir,
To lead on twenty thousand fighting men,
Whom Fortune gave the glory of the day to.
I only bad them fight, and they oby'd me;
But 'twas my Prince that taught them how to do so;

Kin. I do believe Philander wants no courage;
But what he did was to preserve his own.
But thine the pure effects of highest valour;
For which, if ought below my Crown can recompence;
Name it, and take it, as the price of it.

Alcio. The Duty which we pay your Majesty Ought to be fuch, as what we pay the Gods; Which always bears its recompence about it.

Though not for thee, yet to incourage Vertue. I know thy foul is generous enough, To think a glorious act rewards it felf. But those who understand not so much Vertue. Will call it my neglect and want of gratitude; In this thy modelty will wrong thy King. Alcipous, by this paule you feem to doubt My Power or Will, in both you are too blame, Alcip. Your pardon Sir, I never had a thought That could be guilty of fo great fin, That I was capable to do you fervice, Was the most grateful bounty Heaven allowed me, And I no juster way could own that bleffing. Than to imploy the guilt for your repose.

Kin. I thall grow angry, and believe your pride Would put the guilt off on your modefty, if and the state of the state Which would refuse what that believes below it.

Phil. Your Majesty thinks too severely of him; Permit me, Sir, to recompence his valour, and an analysis I faw the wonders on't, and thence may guess In some degree, what may be worthy of it.

Kin. I like it well, and till thou hast perform'd it, I will divest my self of all my power, which would have an ell the bas And give it thee, till thou haft made him great. and room by the band

Phi. I humbly thank you Sir _____ Bows to the King, And here I do create him General.

You feem to wonder, as if I disposses to the Staff The brave Orgulious, but be pleas'd to know. Such Reverence and Respect I owe that Lord, Alcippus, who As had himfelf not made it his Petition, looks amazedly. I fooner should have parted with my Right, Than have discharg'd my debt, by injuring him.

Kin. Orgulious, are you willing to refign it. Org. With your permission, Sir, most willingly; His vigorous youth is fitter for't than age,
Which now has rendred me uncapable Of what that can with more fucces perform; My heart and wishes are the same they were, it would you will But time has quite deprived me of that power he had a provide of the That should affift a happy Conqueror and william of assubility of

Kin. Yet time has added little to your years Since I reftor'd you to this great Command, And then you thought it not unfit for young odd as an odd line in whe A

[34] Org. Sir, was it fit I should refuse your Grace? a fai motivily 169 That was your act of mercy: and I took it agoot F b'rebroil ent ned W To clear my innocency, and reform the errors of quad add or fluming Which those receiv'd who did believe me guilty. Or that my Crimes were greater than that mercy; I took it, Sir, in fcorn of those that hated me; wireless allow and have and have refign it to the man you love. King. We need not this proof to confirm thy Loyalty; Nor am I vet to barren of rewards, Juno 3 se while the sound wove available But I can find a way, without depriving Thy Noble Head of its Victorious Wreathes, To crown anothers Temples. Org. I humbly beg your Majesty's confent to't; and was it's no spelo i If you believe Alcippus worthy of it; The generous Youth I have bred up to Battels; Benefit Jad W 33 Taught him to overcome, and use that Conquest; As modeftly as his submissive Captive, and the state of t To meet Deaths horrors with undainted looks. The long of 1 student How to despile the hardships of a Siege; Manual tens of the 19 1 To fyfier cold and hunger, want of fleep; Nor knew he other rest than on his Horse-back; Where he would fit and take a hearty Nap; And then too dreamt of fighting : Holder alo ed as hours as wines but . I could continue on a day in telling a tomal Dhadquar The He are the The wonders of this Warrior. Looking the Pennish to the word of this Warrior. King. I credit all, and do submit to you. We as a sound and have all But yet Alcippus seems displeas'd with it, Alcip. Ah Sir! too late I find my confidence Has overcome m' unhappy bashfulness; I had an humbler fuit t'approach you with; But this unlook't for Honour, Pif. He is our Concess Has fo confounded all my leffer Aims; I durft not name them after what y' have done. King. It is not well to think my kindness limited; mit or and got man) This, from the Prince you hold, the next from me it visible and no Be what it will, I here declare it thine who we implied a second as a - Upon my life, defigns upon a Lady; ob an rolling the land the I guess it from thy blufhings it and littled and light for ob F and A

Phi. O Gods! — What have I done? Tayou is very brushed Bows.

Phi. O Francis, Sirved doubling about Vocament of the Bows.

Phi. I'm ruin'd. — Its november of the Francis.

King. Alcippus, with her Fathers leave, the thine;

Org. Sir, I is my Aim and Honour.

E

Phi. Alcippus, is't a time to think of Weddings, When the diforder'd Troops require your prefence? You must to the Camp to morrow.

Alcie. You need not urge that Duty to me, Sir. King. A day or two will finish that Affair. And then we'll confummate the happy day, When all the Court shall celebrate your joy. [they all go out

Pif. Falatio, you are a fwift Horseman. but Alcan. Pifa. I believe you have a Mistriss at Court, and Fal. You made fuch hafte this Morning.

Fal. By Jove, Pifaro, I was enough weary of the Campaigne; and till I had lost fight of it,
I clapt on all mv spurs

But what ails Alcander?

Pif. What, displeas'd?

Alcand. It may be fo, what then? Pif. Then thou mayst be pleas'd again. Alcan. Why the devil should I rejoyce? Because I see onother rais'd above me;

Let him be great, and damn'd with all his greatness. Pif. Thou meanst Alcippus, whom I think merits it.

Alcan. What is't that thou call'it merit? He fought, 'tis true, and fo did you, and I, And gain'd as much as he o'th' victory.

But he in the Triumphal Chariot rod, with the wind of the state of t Whilft we ador'd him like a Demi-God. He with the Prince an equal welcome found, Was with like Garlands, tho' less merit, erown'd.

Fa. He's in the right for that, by fove.

Alcan. What's he; I should not speak toy sense of him?

Pif. He is our General. Alcan. What then?

Ske this unknown for Foneur. What is't that he can do, which I'le decline? Has he more youth, more strength, or arms than I? Can he preferve himfelf ith' heat of Battel I mid of how you all the Or can he fingly fighta whole Brigade? blon soy on the order of and I Can he receive a thousand wounds and liver con stoll allow the allow of

Fal. Can you or he do fo ? I he need any lab and are of the

Alcan. I do not fay I can, but tell me then, and do with mail Where be the Vertues of this mighty man, and once have and once That he should brave it over all the rest in in 14/---! abod or

Pr. Faith he has many Vertues, and much courage;

- dimmerly

	4.54
	Pif. Whh, then, he was writt fort, the hand so flowed and I now bank
	But that he had a Daughter who was young. and the xoll was Alcan. Yes, he might have lain by like
	Dudge to an ale
	Ruity Armour elle, a state golob amount of The I no and and Rufty Armour elfe, Had she not brought him into play again;
	THE DEVIL (ARC HEL TOLL)
	Fal. By Jove, he's diffatished with every thing. The of hardened of Alem She has undone my Prince
	Alcan. She has undone my Prince, And he has most unluckily disarm'd himself,
	And he has most unitaking that in a mulicu,
	And put the Sword into his Rivals hand,
	And put the Sword into his Rivals hand, Who will return it to his grateful bosom.
	Pif. Why you believe Alcippus honest
	Alcan. Yes, in your sence Pifere, washington sill and balling and
	But do not like the last demand he made, and the hamplane and ATTeres but as ill seture upon his Driege
	'Twas but an ill return upon his Prince
	To beg his Mistress, rather challeng'd her. Pif. His Ignorance that she was so, may excuse him.
	Pif. His Ignorance that the was fo, may excuse him, and any and any Alcan. The Devil 'twill, dost think he knew it not a more in your
	Pif. Orgulious still defign'd him for Erminat, wil was shalls had vel ?
	And if the Prince be disoblig'd from this, hast a ton had wort it from Me and a such to take it ill from him
	He only ought to take it ill from him.
	Alcan. Too much Pifaro you excuse his Pride,
	But 'tis the office of a friend to do for Manager and Manager you
	Pij. I is true, I am not ignorant of this in a lead that has a service I
	That he defpiles other recompence
	For all his fervices, but fair Erminia, Alast all 1 2 1 and 1 and 2
	I know 'tis long fince he refign'd hisheart, and the share the way
	Without fo much as telling her the conquer'd;
	And set the know he lower while the conquerty,
	And yet the knew he lov'd; whill the, ingrate, b (with upon a sto I
	Repay'd his passion only with her scorner (5) and a bandrabast nort I
	Alcan. In loving him fac'd more ingrateful prove amond as beins !
	To her first Vows, to Reason and to Love.
	Pif. For that Alcander you know more than I. nove his thew I do I
	Fal. Why fure Amina will inftruct her better an undir gold and
	As too little, have a care osbni W bos sass and said on as
	Which ne're are calm but to betray Adventurere today les sill it bad
	Alam How come you be character to the sea call it out
	Alcan. How came you by that knowledge Sir & an avail 1 and 1191
	Fal. What a pox makes him ask me that question now to Loside
	Pif. Prithee Alcander now we talk of her, and
,	How go the Amours twixt you and my wild lifter: mod sould of
	Can you fpeak yet, or do you tell your tale, it speam on you
	With eyes and fighs, as you were wont to do to now or mand eval
	Alcan. Faith much at that old rate, Pifero, wor overally haven as Twet have no incouragement from her
	To make my Court in sweet has been net
	To make my Court in any other language.
	Pij. 1001 pring her tot, the mult be overcome.
	bak. With all my-bears, Sir, bachows B.

And your the fittest for her fickle humour, was ween the with the was who was when the was well as the was wel Alcan. Pox on't, this change will spoil our making Love, and the We must be sad and follow the Court Mode: My life on't you'l fee desperate doings here; The Eagle will not part so with his prey; Erminia was not gain'd fo eafily To be refign'd fo tamely : but come my Lord, This will not fatisfie our appetites. Let's in to Dinner, and when warm with Wine We shall be fitter for a new defign. Fal. Now am I in a very fine condition, Fal. ftays. A comfortable one as I take it ? Ilonoil was I have ventur'd my life to fome purpose now; What confounded luck was this, that he of all men Living, fhould happen to be my Rival. Well, I'le go visit Aminta, and see how She receives me. Why where a duce hast thou dispos'd of Thy felf all this day, I will be bound to be Hang'd if thou hast not a hankering after Some young wench; thou couldst never loyter Thus else; but I'le forgive thee now, and prithee go to My Lady Aminta's Lodgings: Kiss her hand From me: and tell her I am just returned from Labre. I shall Sir; 'tis truth. Fal. Well, that's all one; but if the should Demand any thing concerning me; (for Love's inquisitive) dost hear: as to my valour, or so, Thou understand'st me; tell her soil to the contract of the soil I acted as became a man that pretend to the glory of Lo her drift yows, 40 Region and to Lave. Serving her. Lab. I warrant you, Sir, for a freech, way when he was not not all Fa. Nay, thou mayft fpeak as well too much when the said to the sa As too little, have a care of that, don' hear at as handhooni as a od? And if the ask what wounds I have doft mind me are are an abid W Tell her I have many, wery many it had by due you many, was Alexander of the I have many, wery many it had by the I have many, were well as the last of the last of the I have many a week of the last Lal. What a pox makes him ask me the risuggrounds and Lal. Fa. Let me fee __ let me fee ! I know not where To place them -- I think in my face. La. By no means, Sir, you had much better 20 35 1 10 41 uo (18) Have them in your Posteriors: Nor then the Ladies sight be says this? Can never disprove you : they'll not look there's dount dist . and he Fa. The fooner, you fool, for the rarity on't and an on and lay I La. Sir, the Novelty is not fo great, I affure you. O you will o'l Fa. Go to, y' are wicked : but I will have them in my face. La. With all my heart, Sir, but how?

[[78]

Fa. I'le wear a patch or two there, and I'le Warrant you for pretending as much as any man, And who, you fool, shall know the fallacy?

La. That, Sir, will all that know you, both in the Court and Camp.

Fa. Mark me, Labre, once for all, if thou takest Delight continually thus to put me in mind of My want of Courage, I shall undoubtedly. Fall foul on thee, and give the most fatal proofs Of more than thou expectest.

La. Nay, Sir, I have done, and do believe tis only

I dare fay you are a man of prowefs.

Fa. Leave thy simple fancies, and go about thy business.

La. I am gone, but hark my Lord,
If I should say your face were wounded,

The Ladies would fear you had loft your Beauty.

Fa. O never trouble your head for that, Aminta Is a Wit, and your Wits care not how ill-favour'd Their men be, the more ugly the better.

La. An't be fo, you'll fit them to a hair.

Fa. Thou art a Coxcomb, to think a man of my Quality needs the advantage of handsomness:
A trifle, as infignificant as Wit or Valour: poor Nothings, which Men of fortune ought to despite.

La. Why do you then keep such a stir to gain.

The reputation of this thing you so despite?

Fa. To please the peevish humour of a Woman,

Who in that point only is a fool.

La. You had a Miftress once, if you have not Forgotten her, who would have taken you with All these faults.

Fa. There was fo: but the was poor, that's the Devil, I could have lov'd her elfe :

But go thy ways; what doft thou muse on?

La. Faith Sir, I am only searful you will never Pass with those patches you speak of.

La. Thou never to be reclaim'd Afs; fhall Inever
Bring thee to apprehend as thou ought it; I tell thee
I will pass and repass, where and how I please;
Know it thou not the difference yet, between a Man of Money and Titles, and a man of only Parts,
As they call them; poor Devils, of no mich nor Garb: Well, 'tis a fine and frugal thing,
This honour, it covers a multitude of faults;
Even ridicule in one of us is A-la-mode, [Exeunt
But I detain thee; go hast to Amints. severally.

ACT

[8] ACTI, SCEN. H. Enter Gallages, Aminta, and Olinda.

Enter Ganates, Attitude, 484 Other	Aug Woo, you
Gall. Will Erminia come ? Wood and the flow	ad ten Think but
Oli. Madam, I thought she'd been already here.	getter d has ratio de
Gall. But prethee how does the support this news?	Far Feark ros
Oli. Madam, as those unreconciled to Heaven	Delight continua
Would bear the pangs of death.	No want of Cou
Am. Time will convince her of that foolish error,	Fall fort on tice
Of thinking a brisk young Husband a torment.	is mediferent (C)
Gall. What young Husband?	did well at
Am. The General, Madam.	To love with every ar
Gall. Why, dost thou think the will confent to it?	windows W.
Am. Madam, I cannot tell, the World's inconstant	And the state of t
Gall. I Aminta, in every thing but Love.	House de Local
And fulle they cannot be in that:	Thinks and a such
What fay it thou, Olinda?	IN TO VIOLENCE AND AND
Oli. Madam, my judgment's naught.	of him " WEST -
Love I have treated as a stranger guest,	Distributed for
Receiv'd him well, not lodg'd him in my breft.	oraq yang and
I ne're durst give the unknown Tyrant room,	176 BOH C . 114
Left he should make his resting place his home.	of the main find with the
Gall. Then thou art happy; but if Erminia fail	Auto and a supply
I shall not live to reproach her.	Digar (shandow)
Am. Nay, Madam, do not think of dying yet:	TW. Manh do h
There is a way, if we could think of it.	a se minimation L
Gall. Aminta, when wilt thou this hymour lose?	sund of all all
Am. Faith never, if I might my humour chuse:	LUG MAR TO SHIVE
Gall. Methinks thou now thouldst blush to bid me	Live.
Am. Madam, 'tis the best counsel I can give.	W The wollde of
Gall. Thy Counfel! Prethee what doft counfel now	All this faunts.
Am. What I would take my felf I counsel you.	Es There wa
Gall. You must my wounds and my missortunes bear	Devil. A could be
Before you can become my Counfeller.	Vil 68 10 -
You cannot guess the torments I endure:	La Facilibrit
Not knowing the Difeafe you'l mis the Cure.	Path with those in
Am. Physicians, Madam, can the Patient heal	Ea. Light Sev
Although the Malady they nore did feel:	Pring Sace to ap.
But your Disease is Epidemical,	I will rais and cor
	ion parts in won &
I lov'd, and never did like pleafure know,	Man of Money a
Which passion did with time less vigorous grow.	As they call them
Gall. Why haft thou loft it? Am. It, and half a score.	i monon sie t'
Call Lougatha forth fire than could lave to	Eyes ridicule in c
Gall. Lofing the first, fure thou couldst love no more	But I amin the
Am. With more facility, than when the Dart
The Court of the series with the series of the series	Armid

Arm'd with reliftless fire first feiz'd my heart; Twas long then, e're the Boy could entrance get, the street and And make his little Victory compeat;
But now he as got the knack on't, 'tis with ease,
He domineers and enters when he please.

Gall. My heart, Aminta, is not like to thine.

Am. Faith Madam try; you'll find it just like mine. And make his little Victory compeat; He domineers and enters when he pleafe. Made Protestations ne're to love agen,

The first I lov'd was Phillocles, and then Yet after left him for a faithless crime; But then I languisht even to death for him; -But Love who fuffer'd me to take no reft, New fire-balls threw, the old scarce diposiest; And by the greater flame the leffer light, Like Candles in the Sun, extinguisht quite, And left no power Alcander to refift, Who took, and keeps possession of my brest.

Gall. Art thou a Lover then, and lookest so gay, But thou hast ne're a Father t' obey.

Am. Why, if I had I would obey him too, Gall. And live.

Am. And live.

Gall. 'Tis more than I can do. -Thy Eyes, Erminia, do delare thy heart Has nothing but despairs and death timpart, And I, alas, no comfort can apply,

But I as well as you, can weep and die.

Er. I'le not reproach my fortune, fince in you-Grief does the noblest of your Sex subdue; When your great Soul a forrow can admit: I ought to fuffer from the sence of it; Your cause of grief too much like mine appears, Not to oblige my eyes to double tears; And had my heart no fentiments at home, My part in yours had doubtless fill'd the room. But mine will no addition more receive,
Fate has bestow'd the work she had to give; Your mighty foul can all its rage oppose. Whilst mine must perish by more seeble blows.

Gall. Indeed, I dare not fay my cause of grief Does yours exceed, fince both are past relief; But if our Fates unequal do appear, I ff an and in the red in the two words Erminia, 'tis my heart that odds must bear.

Er. Madam, 'tis just I should to you refign, But here you challenge what is only mine: My Fate to cruel is, it will not give Leave to Philander (if I die) to live :

[fighing)

[Enter Erminia Weeping: Gall. meets ber, embraces ber and Weeps.

IOC Might I but suffer all, 'twere some content, and end ablisher diw b'mrA But who can live and fee his languithment od others then guel and low I'. You Madam, do alone your forrows beat; Viofit of til sid offert back Which would be less did but Aleippus thare; Ward and and and and and As Lovers we agree, I'le not deny and andie another Long along the But thou art lov'd again, fo am not 1. lottel attends, study 14 Mass Er. Madam, that grief the better is fultain'dy'd mabold the I make That's for a loss that never yet was gain'd; bolling sour book I thin of I You only lose a man that does not know interior and interior I shall How great the Honour is which you beflow; Is to mid Hol 15 had a Who dares not hope you love, or if he did, Your greatness would his just return forbid; Ill of wovo I will-His humbler thoughts durit ne're to you afpire, word all don't work At most he would presume but to admire and are the area and we had The same of the Or if it chanc'd he durst more daring prove, You still must languish and conceal your love. Gall. This which you argue leffens not my pain, My grief's the same, were I belov'd again. The King my Father would his promite keep, 1848 From 1841 1941.

And thou must him injoy for whom I weep, 1948 184 194 1944. Er. Ah would I could that fatal gift deny, Without him you; and with him, I must die; My foul your Royal Brother does adore. And I, all Paffion, but from him, abhor; ob and and and all But if I must th'ur fuit Alcippus wed, disab ben agad ab dud mid on asil I vow he ne're shall come into my Bed. The hand trollman on seale of BaA Gall. That's bravely fworn, and now Hove thee more

Than e're I was oblig'd to do before,

— But yet Erminia guard thee from his Eyes;

Where fo much Love, and formuch Beauty lies;

Those charms may conquer thee, which made me bow,

And make thee love as well as break this Vow.

Er. Madam, it is unkind, though but to fear,
Ought but Phillander can inhabit here. [lays her hand on Gall. Als that Alcippus did not you approve;
We then might hope these mischiess to remove;
The King my Father might be won by Prayer;
And my too powerful Brothers sad despair.

To break his word, which kept will us undo:
And he will lose his dear Phillander too,
Who dies and can no remedies receive:
But vows it is for you alone he'll live. aggress happened as a sure.

Er. Ah Madam, do not tell nie how he dies,
I've feen too much already in his Eyes;
They did the forrows of his Soul betray,
Which need not be Confest another way:

Twas there I found what my misfortune was.
Too fadly written in his lovely face:
But fee, my father comes: Madam, withdraw a while, I world I as
And once again I'le try my interest with him. Exempt.

ACT. L. SCEN. III.

Enter Orgulious, Erminia weeping, and Ifillia.

Er. Sir, does your fatal resolution hold?

Org. Away, away, you are a soolish Girl,

And look with too much pride upon your Beauty;

Which like a gawdy flower that springs too soon,

Withers e're fully blown.

Your very tears already have betray'd

Its weak inconstant nature;

Alcippus, should he look upon the now,

Would swear thou wert not that fine thing he lov'd.

Er. Why should that blessing turn to my despair, Curse on his faith that told him I was fair.

Org. Tis strange to me you should despise this fortune,
I always thought you well-inclin'd to love him,
I would not else have thus dispos'd of you

I would not else have thus dispos'd of you.

Er. I humbly thank you, Sir, though't be too late,
And wish you yet would try to change my fate;
What to Alcippus you did love believe,
VVas such a friendship as might well deceive;
'Twas what kind Sisters do to Brothers pay;

Alcippus I can love no other way.

Sir, lay the interest of a Father by,

And give me leave this Lover to deny.

Org. Erminia, thou art young and canft not fee
The advantage of the fortune offer'd thee:

Er. Alas, Sir, there is something yet behind. [fighs. Org. What is't Erminia, freely speak thy mind.

Er. Ah Sir, I dare not, you inrag'd will grow.

Org. Erminia, you have feldom found me so;

If no mean passion have thy soul possess,

Be what it will I can forgive the reft.

Er. No Sir, it is no crime, or if it be,

Let Prince Philander make the peace for me:

Let Prince Philander make the peace for me; He 'twas that taught the fin, (if love be fuch.)

Or. Erminia, peace, he taught you then too much,
Er. Nay Sir, you promis'd me you would not blame
My early love, it'twere a noble flame.

Or. Then this a more unhappy could not be;
Destroy it, or expect to hear of me. [offers to go out.

Er. Alas, I know twould anger you when known. [she flay: him. Org. Erminia, you are wondrous daring grown;

VVhe

Where got you courage to admit his love, and the best of the Before the King or I did it approve?

Er. I borrow'd Courage from my Innocence,
And my own Vertue, Sir, was my defence.

Phillander never spoke but from a Soul,
That all dishonest passions can controul;
With stames as chast as Vestals that did burn,
From whence I borrow'd mine, to make return.

Org. Your love from folly, not from vertue, grew; You never could believe hed marry you.

Er. Upon my life no other thing he spoke,
But those from dictates of his Honour took.

Org. Though by his fondness led he were content.
To marry thee, the King would ne're consent.
Cease then this fruitless passion, and incline
Your will and reason to agree with mine.
Alcippus I dispos'd you to before,
And now I am inclin'd to it much more.
Some days I had design'd t've given thee
To have prepar'd for this solemnity;
But now my second thoughts believe it fit,
You should this night to my desires submit.
Er. This night. Ah Sin what is the same and a second married to the same a

Er. This night, Ah Sir, what is't you mean to do?

Org. Preserve my credit, and thy Honour too.

Er. By such resolves you me to ruine bring.

Org. That's better than to disoblige my King.

Er. But if the King his liking do afford,

Would you not with Alcippus break your word?

Or would you not to ferve your Princes life,
Permit your Daughter to become his Wife?

Org. His VVife Erminia; if I did believe
Thou couldst to such a thought a credit give;
I would the interest of a Father quit,
And you, Erminia, have no need of it:
VVithout his aid you can a Husband chuse.
Gaining the Prince you may a Father lose.

Er. Ah Sir, these words are Poniards to my heart;
And half my love to duty does convert;
Alas Sir, I can be content to die,
But cannot suffer this severity:

[kneels.
That care you had, dear Sir, continue still,

I cannot live and disobey your will. [rises.

Org. This duty has regain'd me, and you'll find

A just return; I shall be always kind;
—Go—reassume your Beauty; dry your eyes;
Remember 'tis a Father does advise. [goes out.

Er. Ungrateful duty, whose uncivil pride,
By Reason is not to be satisfyd;

[43]

Who even Loves Almighty Power overhrows, a standard land.
Or doft on it too rigorous Laws impose; the land land.
VVho bindest up our Vertue too too streight,
And on our honour lays too great a weight.
Coward, whom nothing but thy power makes strong : The land but the power makes strong and land.
VVhom Age and Malice bred traffight the young the land will strong the land.
That nothing but my death will set me free.

SCEN: IV.

Enter Phillander and Alcander.

Phi. Urge it no more, your Reafons do difpleafe me; I offer'd her a Crown, with her Phillander: And the was once pleas'd to accept of it. She lov'd me too, yes, and repaid my flame. As kindly as I facrificed to her : The first salute we gave were harmless love. Our Souls then met, and fo grew up together, Like sympathizing Twins. And must she now be ravish'd from my Arms? VVill you Erminia fuffer fuch a Rape. VVhat the the King have faid it shall be so, drawn up differing 'Tis not his pleasure can become thy Law. No, nor it shall not. And though he were my God as well as King, I would instruct thee how to disobey him; Thou shalt, Erminia, bravely say, I will not; He cannot force thee to't against thy will: Oh Gods, shall duty to a King and Father, Make thee commit a Murther on thy felf?
Thy facred felf, and me that do adore thee; No, my Erminia, guit this vain devoyre. And follow Love that may preferve us all: -Prefumptuous Villain, bold ingratitude-Hadft thou no other way to pay my favours? By Heaven 'twas bravely bold, was it not Alcander? Alcan. It was formewhat strange Sir; But yet perhaps he knew not that you lov'd her. Phi. Not know it; yes as well as thou and I; The VVorld was full on't, and could he be ignorant; VVhy was her father call'd from banishment, and wan no bbA And plac'd about the King, but for her fake : VVhat made him General, but my passion for her, VVhat gave him twenty thousand Crowns a year, But that which made me Captive to Erminia. Almighty Love, of which thou fayst heis i morant; How has he order'd his audaciou

[14]

That I could ne're perceive it all this while.

Alcan. Then 'twas a flame conceal'd from you alone,
To the whole Court besides 'twas visible.

He knew you would not suffer it to burn out;
And therefore waited till his services

Might give encouragement to's close design;
If that could do't he nobly has endeavour'd it,
But yet I think you need not yield her, Sir.

Phi. Alcippus, I confess, is brave enough,
And by such ways I'le make him quit his claim;
— He shall to morrow to the Campagain,
— And then I'le own my passion to the king;
— He loves me well, and I may hope his pity,
Till then be calm my heart, for if that fail,
This is the argument that will prevail.

Epoints to his Sword.
[Excunt.

ACTIL

The REPRESENTATION of the WEDDING.

The Curtain must be let down; and soft Musick must play: the Curtain being drawn up, discovers a Scene of a Temple: The King sitting on a Throne, bowing down to joyn the Hands of Alcippus and Erminia, who kneed on the steps of the Throne; the Officers of the Court and the Clergy standing in order by, with Orgulius. This within the Scene.

Without on the Stage, Philander with his Sword half-drawn, held by Gallatea, who looks ever on Alcippius: Erminia still sixing her eyes on Philander; Pisaro passionately gazing on Gallatea: Aminth on Fallatio, and he on her; Alcander, Inlia, Cleontius, in other several postures, with the rest; all remaining without motion, whils the Musick softly plays; this continues a while till the Curtain falls; and then the Musick plays aloud till the Att begins.

ACTI SCENE I.

Enter Philander and Gallatea inrag'd.

Tis done 'tis done, the fatal Knot is ti'd,

Erminia to Alcippus is a Bride;

Methinks I fee the motions of her eyes,

And how her Virgin brefts do fall and rife:

Her bashful blush, her timorous defire,

Adding new slame to his too vigorous fire;

Whilst he the charming beauty must embrace,

And shall I live to suffer this disgrace.

Shall I stand tamely by, and he receive

That Heaven of bliss, defenceless the can give;

No Sister, no, renounce

Suffers his patience

[15]

I'le reach the Victor's heart, and make him fee,
'That Prize he has obtain'd belongs to me.

Gal. Ah dear Philander do not threaten so,

Whilft him you wound, you kill a Sifter too.

Phi. Though all the Gods were railyed on his fide,
They should too feeble prove to guard his pride.
Justice and Honour on my Sword shall fit,
And my revenge shall guide the lucky hit.

Gal. Confider but the danger, and the crime,

And Sir remember that his life is mine.

Phi. Peace Sifter, do not urge it as a fin,
Of which the Gods themselves have guilty been:
The Gods my Sifter do approve revenge
By Thunder, which 'th' almighty Ports unhinge,
Such is their lightning when poor mortals fear,
And Princes are the Gods inhabit here;
Revenge has charms that do as powerful prove
As those of Beauty, and as sweet as love,
The force of vengeance will not be withstood
Till it has bath'd and eool'd it self in blood.

Erminia, sweet Erminia; thou art lost,
And he yet lives that does the conquest boast.

Gal. Brother, that Captive you can ne're retrieve More by the Victors death than if he live, For the in Honour cannot him prefer, Who shall become her Husbands Murtherer; By safer ways you may that blessing gain, When venturing thus through blood, and death prove vain.

Phi. With hopes already that are vain as air. You've kept me from revenge, but not despair. Thad my felf acquitted as became Erminias wrong'd adorer, and my flame, My Rival I had kill'd, and fet her free, Had not my Justice been disarm'd by thee. -But for thy faithless hope I'de murther'd him. Even when the holy Priest was marrying them, And offer'd up the reeking facrifice To th'Gods he kneel'd to, when he took my prize By all their Purity I would have don't, But now I think I merit the affront: He that his vengeance idly does defer, His Safety more than his Success must fear: I like that Coward did prolong my fate, But brave revenge can never come too late.

Gal. Brother, if you can so inhumane prove.
To me your Sister, Reason, and to Love:
I'le let you see that I have sentiments too,
Can love and be reveng'd as well you,

That

That hour that shall a death to him impart, Shall send this Dagger to Erminia's heart.

[shews a Dagger.

Phi. — Ah Coward, how these words have made thee pale, And sear above thy courage does prevail:

Ye Gods, why did you such a way invent.

Gall. None else was lest thy madness to prevent.

Phi. Ah cruel Sifter, I am tame become,
And will reverse my happy Rivals doom:
Yes, he shall live, to triumph o're my Tomb:

Yes, he shall live, to triumph o're my Tomb:

—But yet what thou hast said I needst must blame,
For if my resolutions prove the same,
I now should kill thee, and my life renew,
But were it brave or just to murther you:
At worst I should an unkind Sister kill,
'Thou wouldst the facred blood of friendship spill.
I kill a man that has undone my Fame,
Ravisht my Mistress, and contemn'd my Name
And Sister, one who does not thee prefer:
But thou no reason hast to injure her.
Such charmes of Innocence her eyes do dress,
As would confound the cruell'st Murtheress:

And thou art foft, and canft no horror fee, Such Actions, Sifter, you must leave to me. Gall. The highest love no reason will admit, And passion is above my friendship yet.

Phi. Then fince I cannot hope to alter thee, Let me but beg that thou wouldst fet me free; Free this poor soul that such a coil does keep; Twill neither let me wake in peace, nor sleep. Comfort I find a stranger to my heart, Nor canst thou ought of that but thus impart; Thou shouldst with joy a death to him procure, Who by it leaves Alcippus life secure.

Gall. Dear brother, you out-run your patience still, We'll neither die our selves, nor others kill; Something l'le do that shall thy joys restore, And bring thee back that health thou had'st before; — We're now expected at the banquet, where I'de have thy eyes more Love than Anger wear: I'his night be cheerful, and on me depend, On me, that am thy Sister and thy friend: A little raise Alcippus jealousie, And let the rest be carried on by me; Nor would it be amiss should you provide A Serenade to entertain the Bride:

'Twil give him sears that may perhaps disprove The fond opinion of his happy love.

[17]

Phi. Though Hope be faithless, yet I cannot chuse, Coming from thee, but credit the abule. Gal. Philander, do not you Hopes power diffruit, 'Tis time enough to die, when that's unjust. [Exeunt:

ACT. II. SCEN. II.

Enter Aminta as passing over the Stage, is stayed by Olinda:

Oli. Why so hasty, Aminta.

Am. The time requires it, Olinda. Oli. But I've an humble fuit to you.

Am. You shall command me any thing. Oli. Pray Heaven you keep your word.

Am. That fad tone of thine Olinda has almost

Made me repent of my promife, but come, what is't?

Oli. My Brother, Madam.

Am. Now fye uponthee, is that all thy business? roffers to go off.

Oli. Stay Madam, he dies for you.

Am. He cannot do't for any woman living: But well — it feems he speaks of love to you;

To me he does appear a very Statue.

Oli. He naught but fighs and calls upon your name. And vows you are the cruell'ft Maid that breaths.

Am. Thou canst not be in earnest sure.

Oli. I'le fwear I am, and fo is he.

Am. Nay then thou hast a hard task on't, to make Vows to all the Women he makes love to;

Indeed I pity thee; ha, ha, ha.

Oli. You should not laugh at those you have undone.

Aminta Sings. Hang love, for I will never pine, For any Man alive; Nor (hall this jolly heart of mine The thoughts of it receive; I will not purchase slavery At such a dangerous rate; But glory in my liberty,

And laugh at love and fate. Oli. You'll kill him by this cruelty.

Am. VVhat is't thou call'st so, For I have hitherto given no denials. Nor has he given me cause; I have feen him wildly gaze upon me often, And sometimes blush and smile, but seldom that; And now and then found fault with my replies, And wonder'd where the devil lay that wit,

VV hich he believ'd no Judge of it could find. Oh. Faith Madam, that's his way of making love-

Am. It will not take with me, I love a man Can kneel, and fwear, and cry, and look fubmifs, As if he meant indeed to die my flave : Thy Brother looks--but too much like a Conqueror.

Oli. How Aminta, can you figh in earnest? Am. Yes Olinda, and you shall know its meaning. I love Alcander - and am not asham'd o'th' secret, But prithee do not tell him what I fay. -Oh he's a man made up of those persections, Which I have often lik'd in feveral men; And wish'd united to compleat some one. Whom I might have the glory to o'recome. -His Mien and Perlon, but bove all his Humour, That furly Pride, though even to me addreft, Do's strangely wellbecome him.

Oli. May I believe this?

Am. Not if you mean to speak on't, But I shall soon enough betray my self.

Enter Falatius with a patch or two on his Face.

Falatius, Welcom from the Wars, I'm glad to fee y've fcap'd the dangers of them. Fa. Not so well scap'd ne ther, Madam, but I Have left still a few testimonies of their Severity to me.

[points to bis face.

Gli. That's not fo well, believe me.

Fa. Nor fo ill, fince they be fuch as render us no Less acceptable to your fair eyes, Madam; But had you feen me when I gain'd them, Ladies, In that Heroick posture.

Am. What posture?

Fa. In that of fighting, Madam. You would have call'd to mind that ancient flory Of the stout Giants that wag'd War with Heaven; Just so I fought, and for as glorious prize, Your excellent Ladiship.

Am. For me, was it for me you ran this hazard then? Fa. Madam, I hope you do not question that, Was it not all the faults you found with me, The reputation of my want of Courage, A thousand Furies are not like a Battel, And but for you, By Fove I would not fight it ore again For all the glory on't, and now do you doubt me: Madam your heart is strangely fortified That can refult th'efforts I have made against it, And bring to boot fuch marks of valour too.

Enter to them Alcander, who feeing themwould turn back, but Olinda flays bim. Oli.

Ol. Brother, come back.

Than when they're us d Fa. Advance, advance, what Man, afraid of me?

Alc. How, can the hold discourse with that Fantastick safide.

Fa. Come forward and be complaifant [pulls bim again.

Al. That's most proper for your wit Falatim.

Er. Why fo angry?

Alc. Away, thou art deceiv'd.

Am. You'va loft your fleep, which puts you out of humour.

Ale. He's damn'd will ofe a moment on't for you.

Am. Who is't that has displeas'd you?

Alc. You have, and took my whole repose away. And more than that, which you ne're can restore;

I can do nothing as I did before.

When I would fleep, I cannot do't for you.

My Eyes and Fancy do that form purfue, And when I fleep, you Revel in my dreams.

And all my life is nothing but extreams.

When I would tell my love, I feem most rude,

For that informs me how I am fubdu'd.

Gods you'r unjust to tyrannize o're me,
When thousands fitter for't than I go free.

[20es out.

Fal. Why what the Devil has possest Alcander.

Ol. How like you this Aminta?

Am. Better and better, he's a wondrous man. [Am. and Ol.

Fr. 'Tis the most unjanty humour that ever I faw; goes out

I, I, he is my Rivall,

No marvell an'he look't so big upon me, He is damnable valiant, and as Jealous as

He is Valiant how shall I behave my Self to him, and there too idle humours of his

I cannot yet determine; the comfort is, he Knows I am a Coward what ever face I fet upon it.

Well, I must either resolve never to provoke His jealousie, or be able to re'counter his

Other fury, his valour; that were a good

Resolve if I be not past all hope.

ACT. II. SCENE. III.

Enter Alcippus and Erminia, as in a Bed Chamber.

Alcip. But still methinks Erminia you are fad A heavyness appears in those fair eyes, As if your Soul were agitating fomething Contrary to the pleasure of this night.

Er. You ought in Justice Sir t'excuse me here, Prisoners when first committed are less gay,

Then

Than when they're us'd to Fetters every day, and smoo 23 24 But yet in time they will more cafe grow! Alcip. You Itrangely blefs me in but faying fo. Er. Alcippus I've an humble fuit to you. Alcip. All that I have is so entirely thine. And fuch a Captive thou hast made my will Thou need'it not be at the expence of wishing For what thou canft defire that I may grant, Why are thy eyes declin'd? Er. To fatisfie a little modest scruple I beg you would permit me, Sir-Alcip. To lye alone to night, is it not fo Erminia? Alcip. That's too fevere, yet I will grant it thee,

But why Erminia must I grant it thee? Er. The Prince's sir questions my power and fays,

I cannot gain fo much upon your goodness.

Alcip. I could have wisht some other had oblig'd thee to't. Er. You would not blame her if you knew her reason.

She takes the party of her Prince and Brother; And this is only to delay those joys, Which the perhaps believes belong to him. -But that Erminia, you can best resolve: And 'tis not kindly done to hide a truth, The Prince fo clearly own'd.

Er. What did he own?

Er. It is -

Alcip. He faid, Erminia, that you were his Wife; If so, no wonder you refuse my bed: The Presence of the King hindred my knowledge, Of what I willingly would learn from you: Come ne're deny a truth that plain appears, I fee hypocrific through all your tears.

Erm. You need not ask me to repeat again, A knowledge which, you fay, appears fo plain: The Prince his word methinks should credit get, Which I'le confirm whene're you call for it: My heart before you ask't it, was his prize, And cannot twice become a facrifice.

Alcip. Erminia, is this brave or just in you, To pay his score of love with what's my due: What's your defign to treat me in this fort, Are facred Vows of Marriage made your foot ? Regard me well, Erminia, what am 1? A file of stanges the we

Er. One Sir, with whom I am bound to live and die, And one to whom by rigorous command, I gave (without my heart) myhmwilling hand. Alcip. But why, Erminia, did you give it fo?

She Weeps.

Er. T' obey a King and cruel father too.

A friendship, Sir, I can on you bestow;
But that will hardly into passion grow;
And 'twill an Act below your vertue prove,
To force a heart you know can never love.

Alcip. Am I the mask to hide your blushes in,
I, the contented fool to veil your fin;
Have you already learnt that trick at Court,
Both how to practice and secure your sport;
Brave Mistreis of your Art, is this the way,
My service and my passion to repay?
Will nothing but a Prince your pleasure fit,
And could you think that I would wink at it?
Recal that folly, or by all that's good,

I'le free the foul that wantons in thy blood. [He in rage takes ber by the Er. I see your love your Reason has betray'd, arm, hews a Dagger.

Er. I see your love your Reason has betray'd,
But I'le forgive the faults which love has made;
'Tis true, I love, and do consess it too:
Which if a crime, I might have hid from you;
But such a passion 'tis as does despise,
Whatever rage you threaten from your eyes.
—Yes—you may disapprove this stame in me,

But cannot hinder what the Gods decree;

Search here this truth; Alas, I cannot fear.

Your steel shall find a welcom entrance here. [He bolds ber fill, and Alcip. Where dost thou think thy ingrateful foul will go, gazes on ber.

Loaded with wrongs to me, should I strike now.

Er. To some blest place, where Lovers doreside,
Free from the noise of jealousie and pride;
Where we shall know no other power but love,
And where even thou wilt soft and gentle prove;
So gentle, that if I should meet thee there,
Thou would'st allow, what thou deny'st me here.

Alcip. Thou —hast disarm'd my rage, and in its room,
A world of shame and softer passions come,
Such as the first efforts of love inspir'd,

When by thy charming eyes my foul was fir'd.

Er. I must confess your sears are seeming just,
But here to free you from the least mistrust,
I swear, whilst I'm your Wife I'le not allow Birth to a thought that tends to injuring you.

Alcip. Not to believe thee, were a fin above
The Injuries I have done thee by my love.

—Ah, my Erminia, might I hope at least
To share the pity of that lovely breast,
By slow degrees, I might approach that Thron;
Where now the blest Philander reigns alone:

[22]

Perhaps in time my paffion might redeem,
That now too faithful heart y'have given to him;
Do but ferbear to hear his Amorous tales,
Nor from his moving eyes learn what he ails:
A fire that's kindled cannot long furvive,
If one add naught to keep the flame alive.

Er. I will not promife; what I mean to do or look by acrition and

My Vertue only shall oblige me to.

Alcip. But Madam, what d'you mean by this referve?
To what intent does all this coldness serve;
Is there no pity to my sufferings due?
And will you still my languishments renew?
Come, come, recal what you have rashly said:
And own to morrow that thou art no maid:
Thy blushes do betray thy willingness,
And in thy lovely eyes I read success.

Er. A double tie obliges me to be.

Strict to my Vows, my Love and Amity;

For my own fake the first I'le ne're decline,

And I would gladly keep the last for thine.

Alcip. Madam, you ftrangely do improve my pain,

To give me hopes you must recal again.

Er. Alcippus, you this language will forbear, When you shall know how powerful you are; For whilst you here endeavour to subdue, The best of Women languishes for you.

Alcip. Erminia, do not mock my mifery,
For, though you cannot love, yet pity me;
That you allow my possion no return,
Is weight enough, you need not add your scorn,
In this your cruelty is too severe.

Er. Alcippus, you mistake me every where.

Alcip To whom, Erminia, do I owe this sate?

Er. To morrow all her story l'le relate, Till than the promise I the Princes made, I beg you would permit might be obey'd.

Alice. You, Madam, with so many charms affail, You need not question but you shall prevail; Thy powers not lessen'd in thy being mine; But much augmented in my being thine, The glory of my chains may raise me more, Eut I am still that slave I was before.

Exeunt severally

ACT II. SCENE IV.

Enter Philander and Alcander. [The Prince half undrest Phi. What's a Clock, Alcander.

Alc. 'I's midnight, Sir, will you not go to bed.

Phi. To bed, friend; What to do?

Alc. To sleep, Sir, as you were wont to do.

Phi. Sleep, and Erminia have abandon'd me;

Tle never fleep again.

Ale. This is an humour, Sir, you must forsake,

Phi. Never, never, oh Alcander.

Dost know where my Erminia lies to Night?

Alc. I guess, Sir.

Phi. Where? Nay prithee speak, Indeed I shall not be offended at it.

Alc. I know not why you should Sir; She's where she ought, a bed with young Alcippus.

Phi. Thou speak'st thy real thoughts.

Alc. Why should your Highness doubt it?

Phi. By Heaven there is no faith in Woman-kind,

Alcander, dost thou know an honest woman?

Alc. Many Sir.

Phi. I do not think; it is impossible;
Erminia, if it could have been, were she,
But she has broke her Vows which I held facred,
And plays the wanton in anothers Arms.

And plays the wanton in anothers Arms.

Alc. Sir, do you think it just to wrong her so.

Phi. Oh would thou could st perswade me that I did so.

Thou know it the Oaths and Vows she made to me,

Never to marry any other than my self,
And you Alcander wrought me to believe them.
But now her Vows to marry none but me,
Are given to Alcippus, and in his bosom breath'd,
With balmy whispers whilst the ravisht youth,

For every syllable returns ro a kiss, And in the height of all his extasie,

Philander's disposses d'and quite forgotten.

Ah charming maid is this your love to me,

Yet now thou art no maid, nor lov'st not me.

And I the fool to let thee know my weakness.

Alc. Why do you thus proceed to vex your self,

To question what you list, and answer what you please?

Sir, this is not the way to be at ease.

Phi. Ah dear Alcander, what wouldst have me do?

Alc. Do that which may preserve you;
Do that which every man in love would do;
Make it your business to possess the object.

Phi. What meanest thou, is she not marryed?

Alcan. What then, she's all about her, that she had,

Of Youth and Beauty fine is Mistriss still, And may dispose it how, and where she will.

Phi. Pray Heaven I do not think too well of thee,

[24]

What means all this discourse, art thou honest?

Phi. And wouldit thou counfel me to fuch a fin?

For - I do understand - thee.

Alcan. I know not what you term fo.

Phi. I never thought thou dit been fo great a Villain

To urge me to a crime would damn us all, Why doft thou finile, haft thou done well in this?

Alcan. I thought fo, or I'de kept it to my felf.

Sir, ere you grow in rage at what I've faid,

Do you think I love you, or believe my life

Were to be valued more than your repose?

You feem to think it is not.

Phi. Poffibly I may.

Alc. The fin of what I have proposed to you You only feem to hate; Sir is it fo?

—If fuch religious thoughts about you dwell, Why is it that you thus perplex your felf? Self-murther fure, is much the greater fin.

Erminia too, you fay has broke her vows, She that will fwear and lye, will do the reft. And of these evils, this I think the least; And as for me I never thought it fin.

Phi. And canst thou have so poor a thought of her.
Alcan. I hope you'l find her Sir as willing to't
As I am to suppose it, nay believe't,
Shee'l look upon't as want of love and courage
Should you not now attempt it;
You know Sir there's no other remedy,
Take no denyal but the Game pursue,
For what she will resuse, she wishes you.

Phi. With fuch pretentions—fhe may angry grow.

Alc. I never heard of any that were fo,

For though the will to do't, and power they want, They love to hear of what they cannot grant.

Phi. No more,
Is this your duty to your Prince Alcander?
You were not wont to counsel thus amiss,
'Tis either disrespect or some design:
I could be wondrous angry with thee now,
But that my grief has such possession here,
'Twill make no room for rage.

Alcan. I cannot Sir repent of what I've faid, Since all the errors which I have committed, Are what my passion to your interest led me to, But yet I beg your Highness would recal

That sence which would perswade you 'tis unjust.

Phi Name it no more and i've feesing it the

Phi. Name it no more, and I'le forgive it thee.

Alc. I can obey you Sir.

Phi. What shall we do to night, I cannot sleep ? Ale I'm good at watching, and doing any thing. Phi. We'le Serinade the Ladies and the Bride. -The first we may disturb, but she I fear

Keeps watch with me to night, though not like me.

- Enter a Page of the Princes.

Phil. How now Boy, Is the Musick ready which I spoke for? Pag. They wait your Highnesses command. Phi. Bid them prepare, I'm coming.

Soft touches may allay the discords here. And fweeten, though not leffen my despair. Exeunt Page.

SCEN. V.

The Court Gallery.

Enter Pisaro alone.

Pila. Ha! who's that, a Lover on my Life, This amorous malady reigns every where; Nor can my Sifter be an ignorant Of what I saw this night in Gallatea: I'le question her - Sifter, Aminta, Sifter, [Calls as at ber Lodging's.

Lyc. VVho calls my Lady? Pif. Where's my Sifter ?

Lyc. I cry your Lordships mercy, My La y lyes not in her Lodgings to night,

The i rincets fent for her, Her Highnels is not well.

Pif. I do believe it, good night Lycet.

- VVho's there. Pag. Your Lordships Page.

Ps/. VVhere hast thou been? I wanted thee but now. Pag. I fellasleep i'th Lobby Sir, and had not wakened Yet, but for the Musick which plays at the Lodgings Of my Lady Erminia,

Pif. Curto on them; will they not allow him nights

To himfelf; 'tis hard.

This night I'me wifer grown by observation. My love and friendthip taught me jealousie, VV hich like a cunning Spy brought in intelligence, From every eye less wary than, its own; That told me that the charming Gallatea, In whom all power remains, Is yet too feeble t'encounter love; I find The has received the wanton God, Maugre my fond opinion of her foul,

Enter a Maid.

[She goes in.

[Enter a Page.

[26]

And 'tis my friend too that's become my Rivall.

I faw her lovely eyes still turn on him,

As Flowers to th'Sun: and when he turn'd away
Like those, she bow'd her charming head again.

On th'other side the Prince with dying looks
Each motion watch'd of fair Erminias eyes,
Which she return'd as greedily again,
And if one glance t' Alcippus she directed,
He'd stare as if he meant to cut his throat for't.
Well friend thou hast a sure desence of me
My Love is yet below my amity.

- [Exeunt

ACT II. SCENE. VI.

Draws off, discovers Philander and Alcander with Musick at the Chamber door of Erminia, to them Pisaro who listens whilst the Song is sung.

The Song for the Page to fing at Erminias Chamber Door.

Amintas that true hearted Swain
Upon a Rivers bank was laid,
Where to the pittying streams he did complain
On Sylvia that false charming maid,
But she was still regardless of his pain:
Oh! faithless Silvia! would he cry
And what he said the Eccho's would reply.
Be kind, or else I dye, E. I dye.
Be kind or else I dye, E. I dye.

A shower of tears his eyes let fall,
Which in the River made impress,
Then sigh, and Sylvia false again would call,
A cruell faithless Shepherdess,
Is love with you become a criminal
Ah lay aside this needless scorn,
Allow your poor adorer some return,
Consider how I burn, E. I burn.
Consider, &c.

Those smiles and kisses which you give,
Remember Silvia, are my due;
And all the joys my Rival does receive
He ravishes from me not you.
Ab Silvia, can I live and this believe?
Incensibles are touch'd to see
My langussments, and seem to pity me.
Which I demand of thee, E. of thee,
Which I demand. &c.

Pif. What's all this ? Phi. Who's there?

Pil. A man a friend to the General.

Phi. Then thou'rt an enemy to all good men. Does the ungrateful Wretch hide his own head, And fend his Spies abroad?

Pif. He is too great to fear, and needs them not;

And him thou termest so, scorns the office too.

Phi. What makest thou here then when the whole World's asleep? ne gone, there lies thy way

Where ere thy business be.

Pif. It lies as free for thee, and here's my business.

Phi. Thou lieft, Rude man.

Pif. Why, what art thou darest tell me so ith' dark?

Day had betrayed thy blushes for this boldness. Phi. Tell me who tis that dares capitulate?

Pif. One that dares make it good.

Phi. Draw then, and keep thy word. Alcon. Stand by, and let me do that duty, Sir. THe fteps between them, they fight, Pifaro falls.

Here's thy reward who e're thou art,

Phi. Hast thou no hurt ?

Alcan, I think not much, yet fomewhere 'tis I bleed.

[Exeunt Prince and Alcan. Pif. What a dull beaft am I

Pag. My Lord, is't you are fallen?

Help, Murther, Murther.

Pif Hold, Bawling Dog.

Enter Alcippus in his Night-gown, with a Sword in his hand, a Page with Lights.

Alcip. 'Twas here abouts - who's this, Pifaro wounded! [He looks How camest thou thus? Come up into my arms.

Pif. 'Twas Jealousie, Alcippus, that wild Monster,

Who never leaves us till he has thus betray'd us.

-Pox on't, I am asham'd to look upon thee.

I have difturb'd you to no purpose, Sir.

Alc. I'le fee thee to thy Lodgings first, Pifaro. Pif. 'Twill be unkind both to your felf and me.

ACT II. SCENE VII. LOW WALL TO COME SO CO.

Enter Philander and Alcander with a Light.

Alcan. He's gone who e're he bes

Phi. It could not be Alcippus.

Alcan. I rather fear Pifaro, and add ton best out worth ban instant -But we foon enough shall know: Who's this? 300 bits a st and I

Enter Erminia in ber Night-gown, and Ifillia with Lights.

Er, Methought I heard Alcippus and the Prince

Before

Before the cry of Murder.

I die if those two Rivals have encounterd.

Phi. Ah Madam, cease that fear; they both are safe From all, but from the wounds which you have given them Er. Oh Gods, what make you here, and where's Alcipput Phi. Where I had been had Heaven been bountiful.

Er. Alas Sir, what do you mean? what have you done?

And where have you beftow'd him?

Phi. Why all this high concern, Erminis? Has he so reconcil'd you to him since I saw you last? This is not kind to me.

Er. Oh tell not me of kindness, where's Alcippus?

Alcan. Madam, of whom do you demand Alcippus?

Neither of us have seen him.

Phi. Go, You are a Woman, a vain peevish creature. Er. Sir, 'tis but just you should excuse my fear,

Alcippus is my Husband, and his fafety

Ought to become my care.

Phi. How Erminia.

Can you fo foon yield up my right to him,

And not blush, whilst you own your Perjury?

Er. Now Sir, you are much too blame, I could have born the rest, but this concerns me, I sear I have but too well kept my Vows with you, Since you are grown but to suspect I have not.

Phi. Pardon me, Dear, the errors of my paffion;

It was a fin fo natural,

That even thy unkindly taking it,

Approach'd too near it, not to gain my Pardon; But tell me why you askt me for Alcippus?

Er. Sir, e're I could dispose my eyes to sleep, I heard the Musick at my Chamber-door, And such a Song as could be none but yours; But that was finisht in a noise less pleasant, In that of Swords and quarrel; And amongst which, I thought I heard yours and Alcippus voice. (For I have kept my word, and lay not with him,) This brought me hither, but if I mistook, Once more I beg your pardon.

Phi. Thou haft reftor'd me to a world of joys,

By what thou new haft faid.

Enter Alcippus, bis Sword in bis Hand, a Page with light, be flands a while.

Alcip. Erminia! and the Prince! embracing too!

I dream, and know she could not be thus base,

Thus false and loose-

But hear, Lam inform'd it is no Vision;

29

This was defign'd before, I find it now; [Lays his band on his heart. Er. Alcippus, oh my fears. EGoes to them, takes ber Alcio. Yes Madam = by the band.

Too foon arriv'd for his and your repofe.

Phi. Alcippus, touch her not.

Aleip. Not touch her, by Heaven I will,

And who shall hinder me?

Who is't dares fay I shall not touch my wife?

Phi. Villian thou ly'ft.

Alcio. That y'are my Prince shall not defend you here,

Draw Sir, for I have laid respect aside.

Strikes, they fight a little, Alcippus is wounded, Alcander Supports bim.

Er. Oh Gods what mean you, hold Philander, hold.

Phi. Life of my foul, retire,

I cannot hear that voice and difobey,

And you must needs esteem him at low rates,

Who fells thee and his Honour for a tear.

[fe kneels. Er. Upon my knees I beg to be obey'd, - But if I must not, here discharge your anger.

Phi. You are too great a Tyrant where you may.

[Exeunt Erminia and Alcippus.

Phi. Stay ! shall I let her go ? shall her Commands, Though they have power to take my life away, Have force to fuffer me to injure her? Shall the be made a prey, and I permit it? Who only have the interest to forbid it?

No, let me be accurft then.

[offers to follow.

Alc. What mean you, Sir? Phi. Force the bold Ravisher to refign my right. Alcander, Is not the my Wife, and I his Prince?

Alc. 'Tis true, Sir,

And you'ave both power and justice on your fide; And there are times to exercise 'em both.

Phi. Fitter than this, Alcander?

Ale. This night Erminia's promise may repose you.

To morrow is your own-

Till then I beg y de think your interest safe,

Phi. Alcander, thou hast peace about thee, and canst judge Better than I, 'twixt what is just and fit, [puts up bis Sword. I hitherto believ'd my flame was guided
By perfect Reason, so we often find Vestels conducted by a peaceful wind. And meet no opposition in their way,

Cut a fafe passage through the flattering Sea: But when a ftorm the bounding veifel throws.

'- does each wave with equal rage oppose;

ACT III. SCENE I.

Enter Alcippus and Pisaro.

Pil. "Is much, my Lord, you'll not be fatisfi'd. Alcip. Friendship's too near a kin to love Pifare. To leave me any peace, whilit in your eyes I read Referves, which 'tis not kind to hide; - Come prithee tell me what the quarrel was, And who 'twas with, thou shalt my dear Pisaro. Pif. Nay, now you urge me to impossibilities, and solve the do not Good faith, I cannot tell, but guess the Prince. Alcip.' I'is true, Pilaro, 'twas indeed the Prince. But what was th' occasion? Pis. He call'd me Spy, and I return'd th' affront, But took no notice that he was my Prince; It was a folly I repented of: But 'twas in a damn'd melanchelly Mood. Alcip. Was it a going in or coming out. Pif. From whence? Alcip. Erminia's Chamber, prithee let me know, and and algund For I have fears that take away my fleep,

Fears that will make me mad, flark mad, Pifaro. Pif. You do not well to fear without a cause. Aleip. O friend, I faw what thou canst ne're conceive; Last night I saw it when I came from thee:

And if thou go'st about t'impose upon me,
Ple cast thee from my soul; Come out with it, I fee thy breast heave with a generous ardour, As if it scorn'd to harbor a reserve,
Which stood not with its Amity to me. Could I but know my fate, I could despite it: But when 'tis clad in Robes of innocence, and I have high and I sale. The devil cannot 'scape it: Something was done last night that gnaws my heart-strings: And many things the Princess too let fall, Which, Gods! I know not how to put together, And prithee be not thou a Ridler too:

But if thou knew'st of ought that may concern me, and an angle of the state of the Make me as wife as thou art.

Pil. Sir, you are of to strange a jealous Humour, minhage a jealous Humour, And I, fo strangely jealous of your Honour, That twixt us both we may make work enough, But on my Soul I know no wrong you have.

Alcip. I must believe thee, yet methinks the face of Lord, the Wolf Has put on an unwonted gravity.

Pif. That, Alcippus, you'll not wonder at,
When you shall know you are my Rival.

Alcip. Nay, why shoulds thou delay me thus with stories? This shall not put me off. his shall not put me off.

Pif. Sir, I'm in earnest, you have gain'd that heart, not I nove of sail. For which I've receiv'd fo many wounds, Venturing for Trophies where none durft appear, with a ron a bad but To gain at my Return one fingle finile: m to all and the went ton had a Or that the would fubmit to hear my flory had you mo it butted a mount out And when th' has faid, 'twas bravely done, Pilare, is not soot I sadw LaA I thought the glory recompene'd the toil, as has lammed see selled won I And facrific'd my Lawrels at her feet: Like those who pay their first-fruits to the Gods, my things and and a second s To beg a bleffing on the following crop, to -- being much 108-And never made her other figns of love, . Sould that help for that William Nor knew I that I had that easie flame. So of our guidestrol that world back Till by her eyes I found that the was mortal, up 1 won to 1 22 km 124 W And could love too, and that my friend is you. of inglion avent. Alcip. Thou haft amaz'd me, prithee speak more clearly, wanter me in a Pil. My Lord, the Princess has a passion for you, now quitness of Have I not reason now to be your enemy and not on ob again mov li bank Alcip. Not till I make returns: 3 .1 But now I'm past redemption miserable, vocate and I'mov such to deal of the work of the Without Erminia that can be formed told me dwil out that can had can be formed told me dwil out to the can be considered. Twas the Erminis told me dy'd for me; we small several a bid I to I bo A And I believ'd it but allight of hers, may be the me to be a bid I to I bo A That will not faller me to be the Point State of the the point State To put me from my Courtship: "And you will we will be a syst it Pif. No 'twas a fatal truth,

Alcippm, had'ft thou feen her, whill the Priest

Was giving thee to fair Erminia

What languishment appear'd upon her eyes?

Which never were remov'd from thy lov'd face.

Through which her melting Soul widness distilled. Which never were removed from thy love lace.

You may obterve the light account in the second of the work of the meant to wash a way thy in the construction of the meant to wash a way thy in the construction of the meant to wash a way thy in the construction of the meant what it is the meant to wash the meant to wash the meant which the meant will under the meant to be proposed in the meant will under the meant to the meant will under the meant which the meant when the meant will under the meant when the meant will the meant when the meant will the meant when the meant will be meant to the meant to the meant will be meant to the meant to the meant will be meant to the meant to the meant will be meant to the The Reverence due ther facred left and place, on you are young and he will all the receipt and almost forgot and a bird of the ready was to kneed the ready and with my lips gather the precious drops of the ready was to kneed the ready and the ready are ready to the ready and the ready are ready to the ready and ready and ready are ready and read Aleto. I never thought thou'dit had this foftness thee,

How cam'ft thou firiend to hide all this from me? availed flum I work Pif. My Lord, I knew not that I was a lover, in thousand no hig said I felt no flame, but a Religious ardour, That did inspire my Soul with adoration, And so remote I was from ought but luch, I knew not hope, hor what it was to wish The om and too har sid I Like Heaven I thought the was to be policist, the man and the was to be policist. for which l've receiv'd Where carnal thoughts can no admittance find And had I not perceived her love to you. I had not known the nature of my flame, But then I found it out by jealoufie, And when in has feld, twas brave I thought the glory recompensed motion was also all the glory recompensed in the glory recompensed in the state of the sta I now decline as criminal and earthly. And acrific'd my Lawrels as h Alcip. When the can love to a discovery, It shows her passion emment and high -But I am married --- to a maid that hates me; What help for that Pifare? What help for that Pifare?

And thou half formething too to far of her that that I want a low a lift by her eyes I found that that that the lift by her eyes I found the l What was't; for now thou half undone me quite bus post evol blues bad Pif. I have nought to fay to het difficaour, Sit zame fin I won't disher But formething may be done may give you caute and and broat von ... To stand upon your Guard;" And if your Rage do not the Makery get round make returns 15g. No. till I make returns 15g. I cannot doubt but you'll be happy you man and redemption man for a work of the Eminia that can hardly be a roll of the Eminia that can hardly be a roll of the And yet I find a certain fhame within the align of the state of th That will not fuffer me to see the Princes, quality of your month and of Alciers, the to fair Ernsch von Wond 1 Tells von Los viving thee to fair Ernsch von Wond 1 Tells von Los viving thee to fair Ernsch von Wond 1 Tells von Word von Versch von Western von Versch versch von Versch ve I have a kind of War within my foul, Prince intruct me.

Pif. Sir take a refolution to be calm the most specific work and in the most to walk a specific actions of their lovers. The most to walk and the most work and the most to walk and the most whatever you the Prithee instruct me. In giving up that right belong dealer of the property of the Line and found of the property of Alcip. I fain would take thy counted wind and in the head of work and in the head of work and to not have the head of work and the head of work Like Flowers in ftorms; the Sun will thine again, and in it is a sun in the s Set Gallatea's charms before your eyes not from ball borrognari 1 Alin W Think of the glory to divide a Kingdom of ther fact of the bear and the state of th And do not waste your Noble youth and time, when momen view on A And with my lips gather the precion risk to cannot said with my lips gather the precion risk to the precio is day you must to the Camp, and in your absence I yield and dorbut A ke upon me what I fcorn'd last night, there t'inhabit. APP. I never thought thought had this foffness thee,

Believe me, Sir; for by the Gods I wear, many to comban or basil The office of a Spy -I never wisht the glory of a Conquest a most conduct the sad nave

With half that zeal as to compose these differences. Alcip. I do believe thee, and will tell thee fomething

That past between the Prince and I last night, And then thou wilt conclude me truly milerable

ACT IL SCENE IN DELOM Tinds alist bal

Enter Falatius, Labreo, as passing by meet Cletonis.

Cle. Your Servant, my Lord.

- so coldly, stay-your reason, Sir, Fal. puts off his Hat a

Cle. Do you not know me & have of your plant of want paffes on. Fal. Yes I have feen you, and think you are Chrontins, A Servant of the Princes; wert i'th' Campania too,

If I mistake not.

Ch. Can you recall me by no better inflances?

Fal. What need of any, pray ? The of months of the marginal blood?

Cle. 1 am a Gontleman. In the new year of the control of the contr

Fal. Ha Labree, what means he now? By Jove I do not question it, Cleontine:

w nat need this odd Punctifio?

I call thee to no account.

Cle. That's more than I can fay to you, Sir.

Cle. You shall not need, Sir: stay, I have a Sister.

Fal. Oh the Devil, now he begins.

Cle. A handsome Sister too, or you deceiv'd her.

Labree. Bear up, Sir, be not huft.

Fal. It may be fo, but is fhe kind, Cleonium?

Cle. What mean you by that word?

Leb. Again Sir. here's too to one.

Lab. Again Sir, here's too to one.

Fa. Will the do reason, or so, you understand me. Cle. I understand that thou'rt an impudent fellow,

Whom I must cudgel into better manners.

Fa. Pox ont who bears up now Labres?

Cle. Beat till thou doft confess thou art an afs.

And on thy knees confess it to Ifilia, Who after that shall scorn thee.

Lab. Rally with him Sir, 'tis your only way, and put it Off with a jeft, for he's in fury, but dares not Strike i'th' Court Strike i'th' Court

Fa. But must you needs do this, needs fight Cleonting? Cle. Yes, by all means, I find my felfinched tot.

Fa. You shall have your defire, Sir, farewel.

Cle. When, and where?

[84.] Fa. Faith very suddenly, for I think it will not be an even sed.

Hard to find men of your trade

Men that will fight as long as you can do.

And Men that love it much better than I,

Men that are poor, and damn'd, fine desperate Rogues, who had had to and then thou wilt conclude me truly mi crab grattar night the And kiss their Mothers into peace again. I TO A Such Sir, I think will fit you? Cle. Abusive Coward balt thou no sence of honour. Fal. Sence of honour, ha, ha, poor Clibhring, The Hora No. Mai to the last Enter Amilita and Olinda, while woll be to Am. How now fervant, why fo jovial ? our wond ton pay of Fa. I was laughing Madam ___at ____ IV 100 1000 Cle. At what, thou thing of nothing Am. Cozen Cleontius you are angry. Cle. Madam, it is unjustly, then, for fools forn lisoon new med and Should rather move the spleen to mirch than anger, o hand and the Am. You've too much wit to take ought ill from him, Let's know your quarrel. Swon of ansam store, and all last Fa. By Jove Labree 1 am undone again. Cle. Madam, it was about ___ Soil I and I be and be an active Fa. Hold dear Cleontins, hold, and I'le do any thing. To the Cle. Just nothing — nie you of val and I need any thing. To find a fide.

Fa. He was a little too familiar with me all and a second and a fide.

Cle. Madam. my Side a relie Cle. Madam, my Sifter Ifillia - 1 198 Loon 100 Min 100 Min Fa. A curse he will out with it—

Cle. Confess she is your Mistress. Caside.

[aside pulls bim

by the Arm. Fa. I call my Mittress Madam. Aud ton ed aid go nod Am. My Cozen Ifilia your Mittres, a only and of or your Hand Upon my word you are a happy Manage took to so your asset with Fa. By Jove if the be your Cozen, Madam, I love her much the better for't. Am. I am beholding to you, naming the cold tark has rebout all But then it feems I've loft a lover of you. I othe lag up them I mon't Cle. Confess she has or l'le so handle you, que ensed of ve [Exit Labree. Fa. That's too much Cleanting - but I will, be said to the By Jove, Madam, I must not have a Mistress that Has more wit than my felf, they ever require 10. Ilish 13 di 10 mg od of More than a Mans able to give them way and min room which dad Oli. Is this your way of Courthip to Ifillia? 2 and 101 [Exit. Cl Fa. By fove, Ladies, you get no more of that from me, 'Tis that has spoyled you all; I find Alcander can to !! Do more with a dumb thow, than I with all my Applications and address worth is faint bruce even Hadling Y. 1. Oli. Why, my Brother can speak.

[35]

Be not kind to him, he'le Hector you all; I'le get well the state of the The way on't too, 'tis the most prosperous one; I seene Other reason you have to love Alcander Better than I.

Am. Why should you think I do?

Fa. Devil I fee't well enough by your continual Quarrels with him.

Am. Is that so certain a proof?

Fa. Ever whilst you live, you treat me too Well ever to hope.

Enter Alcander, kneels, offers his Sword to Aminta.

-What new Masquerade's this? by Jove, Alcander

Has more tricks than a dancing Bear.

Am. What mean you by this present?

Alc. Kill me.

Am. What have you done to merit it?

Alcan. Do not ask, but do't.

Am. I'le have a reason first. Alcan, I think I've kill'd Pifaro.

Am. My Brother dead!

Fa. Madam look up, 'tis I that call.

Am. I care not who thou beeft, but if a Man

Revenge me on Aleander. Fa. By fore the has mistook her man.

This 'tis to be a lover now,

A Man's never out of one broyle or other. But I have more wit than Aminta this bout, Alcan. Come back and do your duty ere you go.

Fa. I owe you much Alcander.

Alcan. Aminta faid you should revenge her on me -

Fa. Her word's not Law I hope.

Alcan. And I'le obey ____

Fa. That may do much indeed. [Fal. answers with great Alcan. This if thou wert a man she bad thee do. figns of fear.

Why doft thou thake?

Fa. No, no, Sir, I am not the man the meant. Alcan. No matter thou wilt serve as well,

A Lover! and canft disobey this Miftris?

Fa. I do disown her fince the is so wicked

To be me kill my friend, dist on aveil box

Why thourt my friend Alcander.

Alcan. I'le forgive thee that.

Fa. So will not His Majesty: I may be hang'd for't. Alcan. Thou shouldst bedamn'd ere disobey thy Mistress.

-Fa. These be degrees of Love I am not yet arriv'd

[She falls into the

[She goes out with Olin.

arms of Olinda.

Offers to go.

[Pulls bim

1 36 30

At, when I am, I shall be as ready to be damn'd In honour as any lover of you all.

Alcan. Owns Sir, d'ye rally with me? Fa Your pardon, sweet Alcander, I protest I am

Not in fo gay an humour.

Alcan. For well I had forgot my felf. I had been been yet

Fa. Stark mad, by Foot we yet it may be not, for Aclander has many unaccountable Humours; Well, if this be agreeable to Aminta, she's e'ne as Mad as he, and 'twere great pity to part them.

Enter Pisaro, Aminta and Olinda.

Am. Well, have you kill'd him? Fa. Some wifer than fome. Madam. -My Lord — what alive? —

Pif. Worth two dead men, you fee. The See Pifaro rums to him Fa. That's more than I could have faid

Within this half hour. Alcander's a very Orlando, by Fove, and gone to Seek out one that's madder yet than himself, that will Kill him.

Am. Oh, dear Falatius, run and fetch him back. Fa. Madam, I have fo lately 'scap'd a scouring, That I wish you would take it for a mark, the doctor will be Of my passion to disobey you, for he is in a damn'd Humour. the rule in took lice man.

Am. He's out of it by this, I warrant you; won the said But do not tell him that Pifaro lives to no blyond and lo the areas studies

Fa. That's as I shall find occasion simil stands could live stop Fal. Exit.

Pif. Alconder is a worthy youth and brave; ob bon abad affect and a I mer you much Memder. I wish you would esteem him so; Tis true, there's now fomerdifference between us ov bill all the Our interest are dispos'd to several ways, and was brown to

But time and management will joyn us all: yodo of how walk

I'le leave you, but prithee make it thy butinessy down ob your told and To get my Pardon for my last nights sudeness and world it and a work Am. I shall not fail.

Enter Alcander melancholy and 1

Fa. Here, Madam, here he is 1944 as avial live pode gathers of many Am. Tell me, Alcander, why you treatme thus? I find have the You fay you love me, if I could believe you all some red nwoll on 1

Alcan. Believe a man; away, you have no wit, . Sporit you the em od o Ple fay as much to every pretty woman. The hand you handle with

Am. But I have given you no cause to wrong med and and and Alcan. That was my face, not fault, I knew him not: 11 100 00 00 But yet to make up my offence to you, The maboo unluor up and offer you my life: for I'm undone, me I evo. I to aper sed ad al. . " and embraces him.

If any faults of mine should make you fad, ilst all shield of anov soni Am. Here, take your Sword again, any Brothers well, radia 100 f She gover bem his Sword ag hielding alit I take ! Fa. Yes, by forea as I am prou had been finely I has yiden as we Serv'd if I had kill'd you now, ; eliog! elson driv be also as a las Am. What forry for the news, ha, han have old shall see the Alcan. No, forry: y'are a woman, a meer woman. Am. Why did you ever take me for a man han han han hand Alcan. Thy foul, I thought was all for, but I fee 10 207 1 and 19 19 19 You have your weakness, can diffemble too; - I would have fworn that forrow in your face Had been a real one: Nay, you can die in jest : you can, falle Woman : O see med roug a at I hate thy Sex for this. Your early Beauty, disched dilplay, Fa. By Fove, there is no truth in them, that's flat; on of She looks fad. Alcan. Why that repentant look, what new defign? -Come, now a tear or two to fecond that, when you have been And I am foft again, a very Afs. and attach and at all and absent and But yet that look would call a Saint from the altar And make him quite forget his Ceremony, y 1 and don't lead saw Or take thee for his Deity of motor and wither'd like on a deen Rojey and It -But yet theu haft a very Helf within, has good do dw police of Which those bewitching eyes draw fouls into I van and on a last Fa. Here's he that fits you Ladies I vi Library with the Am. Nay, now y'are too unjust; and I will leave you. Holds ber. Alcan. Ah, do not go, I know not by what Magick, or stabil . A But as you move, my foul yields that way too and or brand or brand or Fa. The truth on't is, the has a strong Magnetick now. Power, that I find. the raise to charge your generality : Alcan. But I would have none find it but my felf, of the man had No foul but mine shall sympathize with hers, amonoglide gong and Fa. Nay, that you cannot help. anutar annot strive notified and the Alcan. Yes but I can, and take it from thee if I thought it did to. Ol. No quarrels here I pray. Fa. Madam, I owe a Reverence to the place. Alcan: I'le fcaroe allow thee that ; 10 11 11 11 11 11 11 Madam, I'le leave you to your Loven levis her good var or silet Am. I hate thee but for faying fo. 27 no land al wifing out to make it Lad a furnicipal power to captive thee; Alcan. Quit him then. Am. So I can and thee too. The change will be LOffers to go aut.

> ACT. III. SCENE. III. Enter Gallates and Erminia.

Er. And 'tis an act below my Quality, Which, Madam, will not fuffer me to flie Gall. Erminia, ere you boast of what you are :

Alean. The Devil take me if you fcape me fo.

Fal. And I'le not be out done in importunity.

Since

[Goes after ber.

I Goes after.

[38]

Since you're fo high I'le tell you what you are: Your Father was our General tis true, That Title justly to his fword was due; 'Twas nobly gain'd, and worth his blood and toils, Had he been fatisfi'd with noble spoils; But-with that fingle Honour not content, He needs must undermine the Government; And 'cause had gain'd the Army to his side, Believ'd his Treason must be justifi'd. For this (and justly) he was banished, Where whilft a low and unknown life he led, Far from the hope and glory of a Throne, In a poor humble Cottage you were born, Your early Beauty did it felf display, Figure Cov Sex top Lots Nor could no more conceal it felf than day: Your eyes did first Philanders soul inspire, And Fortune too conform'd her to his fire. That made your Father greater than before. And what he justly lost that did restore. now Sant Indirate asl 'Twas that which first thy beauty did disclose,
Which else had wither'd like an unseen Rose; 'Twas that which brought thee to the Court, and there Dispos'd thee next my self, i'th' highest sphere: Alas obscurely else thould'it liv'd and di'd, Not knowing thy own charms, nor yet this Pride.

Er. Madam in this your bounty is severe, Be pleas'd to spare that repetition here. I hope no Action of my life thould be So ruce to charge your generofity: But Madam do you think it just to pay Your great obligements by fo falsea way? Alcippus passion merits some return, And should that prove but an ingrateful scorn; Alas I am his wife, to disobey

My fame, as well as duty, I betray.

Gall. Perfidious Maid. I might have thought thou'dft prove Falle to thy Prince, and Rival in my Love. I thought too justly he that conquer'd me Had a sufficient power to captive thee; Thou'lt now reveng'd thy Fathers shame and thine In taking thus Philanders life and mine. Er. weeps.

Er. Ah madam that you would believe my tears, Or from my yows but fatisfie your fears. By all the Gods Alcippus I do hate. And would do any thing to change my fate;

Ought that were just and noble I dare do.

Gall. Enough Erminia, I must credit you,

And will no o her proof of it require,
But that you'l now submit to my desire;
Indeed Erminia, you must grant my suit,
Where Love and Honour calls, make no dispute.
Pity a youth that never lov'd before,
Remember 'tis a Prince that does adore;
Who offers up a heart that never found
It could receive, till from your eyes a wound.

Er. To your command should I submit to yield, Where could I from Alcippus be conceald? What could defend me from his jealous rage,

Ga. Trust me, Erminia, I'le for that engage.

Er. And then my honour by that flight's o'rethrown.
Ga. That being Philanders, he'll preserve his own;

And that Erminia, fure will ne're diftrust.

Er. Ah Madam, give me leave to fear the worst.

Enter Aminta.

Am. Madam, Alcippus waits for your Commands, He's going to the Camp.

Gall. Admit him.

Enter Alcippus and Pifaro.

Gall. Alcippus, 'tis too foon to leave Erminia.

Alcip. I wish she thought so, Madam,

Or could believe with what regret I do so;

She then would think my faults were much too small,

For such a Pennance as my Soul must suffer.

Am. No matter, Sir, you have the year before you.

Alcip. Yes Madam, fo has every Galley-llave,
That knows his toyl, but not his recompence;
To morrow I expect no more content,
Than this uneasie day afforded me;
And all before me is but one grand piece
Of endles grief and madness:

You, Madam, taught Erminia to be cruel:

A Vice without your aid she could have learnt;

And now to exercise that new-taught Art,

She tries the whole experience on my heart.

Gall. If the do to, the learnt it not of me, I love, and therefore know no cruelty:
Such out-rage cannot well with love refide,
Which only is the mean effect of Pride:
——I merit better thoughts from you, Alcippus.
Alcip. Pardon me, Madam, if my passion stray,
Beyond the limits of my high respect;
——'Tis a rude gust, and merits your reproaches:
But yet the sawcy stame can ne're controul

That adoration which I owe my Princess:

He kneek

That, with Religion, took possession here. And in my prayers Imix you with the Deities. Gall. I'de rather you should treat me as a Mortal, Rife and begin to do fo.

Alcip. Now, Madam, what must I expect from you? Er. Alcippus, all that's to your Vertue due.

Alcip. In that but common justice you allow.

Er. That justice, Sir, is all I can bestow. Aleip. In justice then you ought to me refign, That which the Holy Priest entitl'd mine; Yet that, without your heart, I do despise, For uncompell'd l'de have that facrifice: -Come easeme of that pain that presses here, Give me but hope, that may secure my fear; I'm not asham'd to own my Soul possest With Jealousie, that takes away my rest. -Tell me you'll love, or that my fuit is vain, Do any thing to ease me of my pain.
Gods Madam, why d'ye keep me in suspence, This cannot be the effects of innocence; By Heaven I'le know the cause where ere it lies,

Nor shall you fool me with your feign'd disguise. Pif. You do forget your promise, and this presence. [aside to Alcip. alcip. 'Twas kindly urg'd, prithee be pear me ftill,

And tell me of the faults that look unmanly.

Gall. Dear, if thou lov'ft men flatter him a little, [to Er. afide. Er. 'Tis hard to do, yet I will try it, Madam.

Gall. I'le leave you that you may the better do fo. I hope Alcippus, you'll revisit us, and to the

With Lovers speed:

And whatsoever treatment now you find, that was alleged a way on a sile of the control of t At your return you'll find us much more kind. ... The bows, fire goes out.

Alcip. Can you forgive the rashness of a man, and have a later to That knows no other Laws but these of passion?

Er. You are unkind to think I do not Sir. -Yes, and am grown fo formed by my pity, That I'm afraid I shall neglect my Vows, and record always and sold and And to return your passion, grow ingrate, and an about it is a Alcip. A few more fyllables expressed like these, and the best evol ! Will raise my Soul up to the worst extream, And give me with your fcorn an equal torment.

Er. See what a power your language has upon-me. [Weeps. Alcip. Ah, do not weep, a tear or two's enough, a note in the For the Completion of your Cruelty,
That when it fail'd to execute your will, Sent those more powerful weapons from your eyes,

And what by your feverity you mift of,

Thefe

[41]

These (but a more obliging way) perform. Gently, Erminia, pour the balfom in, That I may live, and tafte the fweets of Love. -Ah fhould you still continue as you are, Thus wondrous good, thus excellently fair. I should retain my growing name in War, And all the Glories I have ventur'd for, And fight for Crowns to recompence thy Bounty. -This can your fmiles, but when those beams are clouded, And have not Courage left to kill my felf.

Er. A fate more glorious do's that life attend,

Alcip. Erminia, do not footh my easie heart, And does preserve you for a Nobler end. For thou my fate, and thou my Fortune art; Whatever other bleffings Heaven delign, Without my dear Erminia, I'le decline. Yet, Madam, let me hope before I go, In pity that you ought to let me do.

'Tis all you shall allow m' impatient heart.

Er. That's what against my will I must impart : But wish it please the Gods, when next we meet,
We might as friends, and not as Lovers greet.

[Execut.

ACT IV. SCENE L

Enter Galatea and Aminta met by Philander and Alcander.

Phi. SO hafty Sifter!

Nor to fattack while strake you have Gall, Brother, I am glad to meet you. Aminta has fome welcome news for you.

Erminia yet is hardly brought to yield, She wants but some encouragement from you, and page and two lang-

That may affift her weakness to subdue, And 'twas but faintly the deny'd to fee you. Phi. However, I will venture,

She can but chide, and that will foon be past: A Lovers anger is not long to last.

Amin. Ifillia, I have won to give you entrance. Phi. Love furnish me with powerful arguments: But I conseque vote les Direct my tongue that my disorder'd sence May speak my passion more than Eloquence.

Gall But is Alcippus gone? Alean. Madam, an hour fince. Phi. 'Tis well; and Sifter, Whilst I perswade Erminia to this flight;

Make it your business to perswade the King, Hang on his neck, and kis his willing cheek: Tell him how much you love him, and then smile, And mingle words with kiffes; 'twill or'ecome him: Thou haft a thousand pretty flatteries. Which have appeas'd his highest fits of passion: A Song from thee has won him to that reft, Which neither toil nor filence could dispose him to. Thou know'st thy power, and now or never use it.

Gall. 'Twas thither I was going. Phi. Mayst thou be prosperous.

[Excunt Phi.! and Ga.

Aminta and Alcander fay. Am. What now Alcander?

Alean, As 'twas Aminta.

Am. How's that?

Alcan. Such a diffracted lover as you left me. Am. Such as I found you too, I fear, Alcander. Alcan. Ah Madam do not wrong me fo,

Till now I never knew the joys and forrows That do attend a foul in love like mine, My passion only fits the object now, I hate to tell you fo, 'tis a poor low means To gain a Mistris by, of so much wit, Aminta you're above that common rate

Of being won.

Mean beauties should be flatter'd into praise. Whilst you need only fighs from every lover To tell you who you conquer, and not how, Nor to instruct you what attracts you have.

Am. This will not ferve to convince me,

But you have lov'd before,

Alcan. And will you never quit that error Madam? Am. 'I's what I've reason to believe, Alcander And you can give me none for loving me,

I'm much unlike Lucinda whom you fight for I'm not fo coy, nor fo referv'd as the; Nor so designing as Florana your next Saint, Who starv'd you up with hope, till you grew weary,

And then Ardelia, did restore that loss. The little fost Ardelia, kind and fair too.

Alcan. You think you're wondrous witty now. Aminta

But hang me if you be.

Am Indeed, Alcander, no 'tis simple truth, Then for your bouncing Mistress, long Brunetta, O that Majestick garb, 'tis strangely taking That scornful look, and eyes that strike all dead that stand Beneath them.

Aleander, I have none of all these charms,

But well, you say you love me; could you be Content to dismis these petty tharers in your heart, And give it all to me: on these conditions I may do much,

Alcan. Aminta, more perhaps than I may like,

Am. Do not fear that Alemder.

Alc. Your jealousie incourages that fear.

Am. If I be fo, I'me the fitter for your humour. Alcan. That's another reason for my fears; that ill Luck owes us a spight, and will be fure to pay us with Loving one another, a thought I dread. Farewel Aminta; when I can get loofe from I wall side mond with Ardelia, I may chance wait on you, till then Your own Pride be your companion.

Am. Nay, you shall not go Alconder.

Alean. Fy on't, those looks have lost their wonted force, I knew you'd call'd me back to finite upon me, And then you have me fure; no, no, America, I'le no more of that,

Am. I have too much betray'd my paffion for him, - I must recall it, If I can I must, -I will --- for should I yield my power's orethrown, And what's a Woman when that glorys gone, in us a veril

ACT IV. SCENE IL

Enter Alcippus and Pilaro.

Pif. You feem'd then to be pleas'd with what the faid. Alcip. And then methought I was for But yet even then I fear'd she did dissemble -Gods, what's a Man poffes't with jealouse? Pif. A strange wild thing, a lover without reason, I once have prov'd the terture on't,

But as unlike to thine as good from evil; Like fire in Limbecks, mine was fost and gentle, Infusing kindly heat till it distill'd The spirits of the foul out at my eyes,

And fo it ended.

But thine's a raging fire which never ceases Till it has quite destroy'd the goodly Edifice Where it first took beginning; Faith ftrive Sir to suppress it. walland ball and shapping and marches

Aleip. No l'ie let run to its extent And fee what then twill do. Perhaps 'twill make me mad, or end my life, Either of which will ease me. Colling beau of F-may or 1 is 1

Pil. Neither of thefe Alcippus,

Holds bim

It will unman you, make you too delbis'd tool way and nov llaw hug And those that now admire, will pity you, ned should alimit of treating Am I not ty'd a flave to follow love, Whilst at my back freedom and honour waits, And I have lost the power to welcome them? Like those who meet a Devil in the night, meeting all the wind the And all affrighted gaze upon the fury, But dare not turn their backs to what they fear, Though fafety lye behind them. Alas ! I would as willingly as those Fly from this Devil Love. -Pij. You may like those affrighted, by degrees

Allay your sence of terror in the object,

And then its power will lessen with your fear,

And 'twill be easie to forgo the fantasme. And 't will be easie to forgo the fantasme. Alcip. No, then like the damn'd Ghost it follows me. Pif. Let reason then approach it, and examine it. Alcip. Love is a furly and a lawless Devil And will not answer reason. I must incounter it some other way For I will lay the Fiend. Pif. What would you have Alcippus? neily users of a size. but Alcip. I'd have fair play Pifero. -1 find the cheat, and will not to the Camp --- Thou shalt supply my place, and I'le return: The Night grows on, and something will be done That I must be acquainted with. Pif. Pardon me Sir, if I refuse you here cheat and bas and I find you're growing up to jeal outles b out brast I need neve the luft Which I'le not trust alone with you sollen mal a state, shool-Alcip. Thou know'st perhaps of something worthy it Pif. I must confess your passions give me cause, But 'cis no time nor place to make disputes in : afuling kindly freat till it diffilld Will you to horse? Alcip. Will you not think fit I hould return then ?!! to at aid of I can be calm. Pil. What is't you mean by this return Alcopus? Alcip. To fee Erminia, is not that enough would a dip Pil. But Sir, Suppose you find Philander there tot of the switch diase. Alcip. Then I suppose I shall not much approve ont. Pif. You would be at your last nights rage again. Alcippus this will ruine you for ever, Nor is it all the power you think you have the live abids ? Can fave you, if he once be disoblig'd souls of the route Pelieve

Believe me 'twas the Princes's passion for you and like godulate verice lw I know -- not what firenge power thou bear higher that the branch all many in the branch and the Alcip. All this I know as well as you Pifaloyen doubt to this i will an raid But will not be abus'd; alas I'me loft to to binglish bed I lethiw that ban Could I recall these two last days are past a brobable eggent a broad I Ah I should be my self again, Pifaro: Ah I should be my self again, Pifero:

I would refuse these setters which I wear,

And be a slave to nothing but to glory. Pif. That were a resolution worthy of you no most share I when both on a But come 'tis late, what you refolve concluded storm and to all to all to Alcip. I am refolv'd I will not to the Camp, and you amills a final land A secret inclination does perswade me , wash you have To visit my Erminia to night. anon mania de etai sure de rende de Pis. Comes it from Love, or Jealousie? Alcip. The first good, faith Pifare; thourt fo fearful You shall to'th' Camp before it strong at , and le somblime at the And I'le be with you early in the morning.

Pif. Give me your hand, and promife to be calm. Ale. By all our friendships, as the Western Winds,

Nothing that's done shall e're inrage me more, Honour's the Miltress I'le henceforth adore bus miss it this and [Exit.

Psf. I will not trust you though. Legoes out another way.

Lgives bis band.

ACT IV. SCENE. III.

The Court Gallery.

[Calls at the lodgings of Erminia-

Abribate I could be main is this faint all the

And be contented winiting Munuchy;

I would, if my will multioude of pollions

Enter Philander and Alcander in their Cloaks muff d as in the dark.

Alcan, Ifilia? Ifil. Who's there? Alcan. A friend. Isil. My Lord Alcander? Alcan. The fame. If. Where's the Prince ? Louid is, but siky re for liberty and District of the Prince ?

If. Give me your hand my Lord, and follow me more and granden has · Phi. To such a Heaven as thou conductest me to, Though thou should'st traverse Hell I'de follow thee: Alcan. You'l come back in charity Ifillia?

If. Yes, If I dare trust you alone with me.

They go all in.

ACT IV. SCENE IV.

Draws-off, discovers Erminia, in an undress, sitting to ber Philander, who falls at ber feet on his knees.

Er. My Lord the Prince, what makes your Highnesshere?

Phi. Erminia, why do you ask that needless question? Twas Love, Love that's unfatisfied, which brought me hither.

Er. Rife Sir, this posture would become me better, Phi. Permit me dear Erminia - to remain thus.

Tis only by these signs I can express

46

What my confusion will not let me utter a a second sail sewit and avoided .. I know-not what ftrange power thou bear ft about thee, and that du about But at thy fight or touch my fente forfakes me, as word I said HA Leish. And that, withal I had defign'd to fay, demil sale; begin sed for the the Turns to a strange disorder'd rapture in me. Sand out son's libert a filler

Er. How do you Sir?

The state of the state

Too fuddenly I pass from one extream now notificate a siew asia To this of joy, more infilipportable, later the world and and the But I shall reassume my health anon di or ser leve i by also me i dille And tell thee all my ftory, A iceret inclination dees periwade me

Er. Dear Sir, retire into this inner room, Angar of Change with hely of

And there repose a while. Seriolary as you travil it as mod . It Alas, I see disorder in your face; only seed said, and place in your face; only seed said.

Phi. This confidence of me, is generous in thee. [They go into the Scene which draws over.

ACT IV. SCENE. V. [The Court Gallery. Enter Alcippus Hadrane bate la printo VI

Alcip. The night is calm and filent as my thoughts, Where nothing now but loves fost whispers dwell; Who in as gentle terms upbraids my rage, Which strove to disposses the Monarch thence; It tells me how dishonest all my fears are, And how ungrateful all my jealousies. And prettily perswade those Infidels To be less rude and mutinous hereafter. Ah that I could remain in this same state And be contented with this Monarchy; I would, if my wild multitude of passions Could be appeas'd with it, but they're for liberty, And nothing but a common-wealth within Will fatisfie their appetites of freedom. -Pride, Honour, Glory, and Ambition firive How to expell this Tyrant from my foul, But all too weak though reason should assist them.

THe knocks. Alcander looks out at the door.

Alcan. Who's there?

Alcip. A friend.

If. Oh Heavens it is my Lord Alcippus voice.

Alcan. Peace Ifillia.

Alcip. I hear a man within ___ open the door. Now Love defend thy interest, or my jealousie Will grow the mightier Devil of the two else. -Who's this? one muffled in a Cloak: What art thou, who at this dead time of night Haft took possession here?

r Alcand. comes out.

Speak

	[47.]
	-Speak or I'le kill theeleng store states Thin they took as W at the Speak or I'le kill there a special special state of the wind the Alcan. This were an opportunity indeed. The would be seen a special state of the world be seen as a s
	To do my Prince a fervice, but I dare not we the transfer of the land
	Aleip. What dareft not do? 1000 30 012 30 14 1000 1000 1000
	When we want datch not not it is a second of the second of Alcan Not kill thee. brown a free feet the stivored state to the story of the state
	Alc. Is that thy business then have at the flave giv orom [Rame at him. 1]
	I'l spoyl your keeping doors. They fight, and graphing Alcander get: the Sward of Alsippus.
	They fight, and grapling Alcander gers the Sword of Alcippus.
	Alcip. He'as got my Sword, however I'll lofe no time: 11 120 15 V 34 El
	It may be 'tis his office to detain me. The goes in.
	Alcan. I'me wounded, yet I will not leave him fo; it ad , 221 . 19
	There may be mischief in him athough principal and and Gots of
	A C TO THE COMMENT OF THE PROPERTY OF THE PARTY OF THE PA
	ACT. IV. SCENE VI in ver bent Bed Chamber bent Discovers Erminia, Philander string on the bed, to them Itilia, a Swera and Discovers Erminia, Philander litting on the bed, to them Ifilia, a Sweet and Hat on the Table, grawline of the rest of the most vibrate visit
	If. Ah Madam, Alcippus. om al Librab Hand the Prince thousand for the
	The Aleinan where 2
	Er. Alcippus where? Brow with another introde I that in word I
	If. 11eft him in a quarrel with Alember of the bald the wat the bald the
	And hear him coming up.
	Er. For Heavens lake, Sir, lubinit to be conteatured as a first transfer to Phi. Not for the World, Erminie and that for point you or nov and
	My innocence shall be my guard and thing to calculate the state of the
	Er. Upon my knees I beg you'le be conceald.
	He comes, Philander, for my fafety go out in an illerit more in the Phi. I never did obey with more regret. He bides bimself behind the bed, and in hast leaves his Sword and Has
	He bides bimself behind the bed, and in bast leaves bis Sword and Has on the Table, Alcippus comes in.
	Aleip. How now Erminiad Holl bear store Ho ve do bears
	How come it you are up to late? and some of the nice blod any and
	Er. I found my felf not much inclin'd to fleep ; and grow one provide
	I hope 'tis no offence. Supy refligit mid rel of rai moned hat A
	Why de you look fo wildly round about you?
	Alcip. Methinks Erminia you are much confus'd, on one land
	Er. Alas you cannot blame mels miles on the later mesh alarman
	Ifilia tells me you were much iurag'd them have been and a collection
	Against a Lover she was entertaining of the against a lover she was entertained by the ag
	Al. A Lover — was that a time for Court hip?
	Puch a Gione Madem will reflect on you
1	Such actions, Madam, will reflect on you. Ifillia goes to take the Hat and Sword and flide into ber lap, which be
	Illina goes to take the Hat and Sword and pine into ber tap, which he Con all fees calls to bernaling; brown and such the self
-	-What have you there Islia
-	Come back and let me fee what tiss them the takes them from ber.
	ha — a Sword and Hat — Erminia, whole be these?
	Er. Why. do you ask—
	Alcip. To be inform'd, is that so great a wonder?
	Er. They be my Fathers Sir
	Beip

	[434 ]
1	Alcip. Was that well faid Erminia peak agained illid of to about the Er. What is't you would know independent independent of the were an opportunity independent of the work o
	Er. What is't you would know but vintingon as you aid I work
	Alcip. The truth Erminia, twould become you belt? a sound you ob o'T
	Do you think I take these things to be your fathers? House fall M. giale.
0	No treacherous Woman, I have feen this fword T Draws the Sword.
	She is that thy buliness (hathis avent authorities aron palms velocity and with the world and the world are the wo
	It had not else been here
	Where have you hid whis mightly dan of malour of the action of the second of the secon
	Have you exhausted to his stock of courage brows you so so all side.
	He has not any left t'appear withal. am nistab or a titlo ani sio an yam al
	Phi. Yes, bale Alcippur of have fill that courage, believe and amount
	Theflette bt which thou haftibeheldlyith wonder, bildin ad gam erall I
	Thou't find fufficient to chastife thy boldness,
	I hour and lumcient to chaitile thy boldness,
	Restore my Sword and prove the truth of this. This is the stand of the standard of the standar Aleip. I've hardly fo much calmness left to answer thee to a set to make
	And tell thee Prince thou art deceived in me.
	— I know 'tis just I should restore thy Sword,
	But thou half thow if the paicit of the play the addition in the state of
	And I'le return thuncivil treachery, qu gaimoo mid read both
	You merit death for this bale injury?
	But you're my Prince, and that I own you're
	Is all remains in me of fence or fuffice the DIED VIII od Hant sons course VIII
	The reft is rage, which if they get it not thence d I seem you need to.
	Will eat up that small morfel too of reasons VI TO 1 White Art Small morfel to the reasons VI TO 1 White Art Small morfel to the reasons VI TO 1 White Art Small
	And leave me nothing to preferve thy life with. Woodo his revent will
	Phi. Gods, am I tame, and hearthe Traytor brave me, [Offers to run
	I have refertment left though nothing elferno
	Alcie. Stand off, by all that's good I'le kill thee elfe. WET puts her felf
	Er. Ah, hold Sir, hold, the Prince has no defence of the week.
	And you are more than artifed! of bindom from ton tol you by To Alcip.
	What honour is't to let him Murther you?
,	-Nor would your fame be leffered by retreat woodsol any of the Phi. Alas I dare not leave thee here with him.
	. Er. Trust me Sir, I can make him calmragain. Id somes now roll
	Alcip. She counfels well, and I advite you take it, w they are allow the I
	Phi. I will, but not for fear of thee or death, aw and rayou an florent
	But from th' affurance that her power's fufficient
	To allay this unbecoming fury in thee, Dellar we make a will a will a see
	And bring thee to repentance. Will have the stanton not silled
	He gives bim bis Sword; Philander goes out, Alcippus looks the door after bim dad //-
•	Er. Alcippus, what do you mean ? and the sel am all the stand amou
	this To know twhere turners beared this improduced
	Alcip. Toknow where twas you learn'd this impudence? Which you'r too cunning in,
	Which you'r too cunning in, Not to have been a stale practitioner.
	The Alex what will you do
	Er, Alas what will you do? the same all states you ad you'll all Alaip.
и

Alcip. Pifaro, do notierr. yes nell most in held wit ovident que la life in the prince and the alone together, the third is a life in the He all diforder'd like a ravisher, Sonob haved andwe, the A. Loose and unbustoned for the amorous play; it is believed to the amorous play; O that the had another life to lofe. Is shot of each railed asset a low Pif. You wrong her most inhumanly, you do; Her blood yet fenfible of the injuryold oil ontant ton oral I do --Flows to her face to upbraid thy bruelty. Alide made veriled 11 suff -Where dost thou mean bad man to hide thy head boy slimit land. Vengeance and Justice will pursue thee close, And hardly leave thee time for penitence, and Lan Lind Lind Lind -What will the Princes say to this return You've made to all the offers the had fent This night by Prince Philander & meabor even I mand ven won o?---Aleip. Oh when you name the Princels and Philander, and niveb 18 Such different patiens do at once possessime, has this of volve and an armonial and assessing our region as -Alas why do I live ? 'tis lofing time, an ion the unit of the onew if If For what is death, a pain that's fooner ended ob a fine joil Than what I felt from every frown of hers -It was but now, that lovely thing had life, and I brod with and Could speak and weep, and had a thousand charme That had oblig'd Murderer, and madneft 'tfelf : had To've been her tame adorers. will net igeak with him. Yet now should even her best belov'd the Prince, al brouly 14 and 1 With all his Youth, his beauties and defires, mility had be Fall at her feet, and tell his tale of love. toll atte Wo! She hardly would return his amorous fmiles. Or pay his meeting kiffes back again; ed not read it at by bluthing face, Is not that fine Pifaro? Pif. Sir, 'tis no time to talk in, come with me, ing but a last set For here's no fafety for a Muntheren astin and based and it as Alcip. I will not go alas I feek no fafety. at on you of ven Pif. I will not now dispute that vain reply. But force you to fecurity. Pijaro draws him out, the Scene clofes. ACT W.SCENE VIL Enter Philander, Alcander, Gallatea, Aminta and Falatius. Pa. Ah fly, Sir, fly, from what I have to tell you. Alcas. What's the news? Fa. Ah Sir, the difmall'st heavy news that e're the comment Was told or heard. ariais nuove anicas de maint aven falle Gall. No matter, out with ity of the grid of sman you drive I noish W Fa. Erminia, Madam. Fol. Is dead, Sir. A proposed said gottles of pear Security, V.

[51]

Alcen. What haft thou loft thy wits? add b'wolfs aved bloom may bank Fa. I had them not about me, at the fight themand and ton an bold I elfe had been undone : Alas Erminia's dead dw won northqui uny nan but Or. Reingenber fir Freihifdwer my Baughter. Murther'd and dead.

Alcan. It cannot be, thou ly'ft.

Fa. By fore, I do not Sir, I faw her dead, Alas, I ran as I was wont to dont and the back and may have been the Without demanding licence to her Chamber, out disable and as a new of But found her not as I was wont to do, and and files The Women weep. In a gay humour; but stone dead, and cold, with and the state of

Phi. Alcander, am I awake - or being fo, Doft not perceive this senseles flesh of mine on mine on the senseles of Harden into a cold benummed Statue org about the form of blood and s

Methinks - if does fupport me or I fall or a wold it had

And fo _ shall break to pieces __ [Falls into his Arms. Gall. Ah lovely Maid, was this thy destiny?

Did Heaven create thy beauties to this end ? [He leads him out. -I must distrust their bounties, who neglected The best and fairest of their handy-works; and symbol to restill will be

This will encourage fin, when innocence this year of the property Must perish thus, and meet with no desence.

Enter the King and Orgulius.

Org. If murther'd innocence do cry for justice, Can you, great Sir, make a defence against it? the salt brown the pallion of thy Bon-

King. I think I cannot.

Org. Sir, as you are pious, as you are my King, white work being The Lover and Protector of your people, Revenge Erminia's Murther on Alcippus.

Gall. If e're my Mother, Sir, were dear to you, As from your tears I guest whene're you nam'd her; and the same has If the remembrance of those charms remain, Whose weak resemblance you have found in me, and stand the land For which you oft have faid you lov'd me dearly; Dispence your mercies, and preserve this Copy, Which elle must perish with th' Original

King. Why all this Conjuration, Gallatea. Gall. To move you, Sir, to spare Alcippus life. King. You are unjust, if you demand a life,

Must fall a Sacrifice to Erminia's Ghost,
That is a debt I have ingag'd to pay.

Gall. Sir, if that promise be already past, and and the sour word be irrevocable, I yow I will not live a moment after him.

King. How Gallatea! I'de rather hop'd you'd joyn'd

Your Prayers with his.

Gall. Ah Sir, the late Petition which I made you Might have inform'd you why these knees are bow'd, Twas but this night I did confess I lov'd him.

And

522 And you would have allow'd that passion in me, Had he not been Erminia's, Es. I had them not about me, at the And can you question now what this address mount, and and had a let Or. Remember Sir, Erminia was my Daughter. Gall. And Sir, remember that I am your Daughter. Or. And shall the Traytor live that murther'd her? Gall. And will you by his death Sir, murther me? In dear Erminia's death too much is done, or appoil a life much world be If you revenge that death, 'tis two for one ow and in an anged baged and Or. Ah Sir, to let him live's unjust in you. Gall. And killing me, you more injustice do. Or. Akippus, Madam, merits not your love, and all overage on hold That could fo cruel to Erminia prove. 22 beamaged blooms of missingly Gall. If Lovers could be rul'd by Reasons Laws, his addition For this complaint on him, we'd had no cause and lead to the Twas Love that made him this rath accommit, Had the been kind 't'had taught him to fubmit. -But might it not your prefent griefs augment; I'd fay that you deferve this punishment and night to sign of hon thed on F By forcing her to marry with the General sorial anathrooms Him sid T By which you have destroy'd Philander too, the fine and distributed and now you would Alcippus life undo, and the results of the same and the same a Or. That was a fault of duty to your Majesty. Kin. Though that were honefly twas not wifely done, the now has For had I known the passion of my Son, and how effential 'twas to his content, as an ignor as you are the content. I willingly had granted my confent; Her worth and beauty had sufficient been, To've rais'd her to the Title of a Queen. Did not my Glorious Father, Great Gonzal, William I amount of the Marry the Daughter of his Admiral Process Short to sound in comment it. And I might to my Son have been as kind, nov panelder that we could be As then my Father did my Grandfire finds which was a second Org. You once believ'd that I had guilty been, And had the punishment, but not the fin;

1 fuffer'd when 'twas thought I did afpire, And should by this have rais'd my crimes yet higher. Kin. How did Philander take Erminia's death? Gall. My own furprize and grief was fo extream,

I know not what effects it had in him;
But this account of him I'me forcid to give,
Since the is dead, I know he cannot live.

Kin. I'le know Philanders Fate e're I proceed,
And if he dye, Alcippus too thall bleed.

ACT

ACT IV. SCEN. VIII.

Enter Falatius and Labree.

Fa. Wert thou never valiant Labres ?

La. Yes Sir, before I ferv'd you, and fince too, I Am provok'd to give you proofs on't fometimes.

For when I am angry I am a very Hector.

Fa. I the Devil when a body's angry, but that's Not the valour in mode; men fight now adays Without that, and even embrace whilf they draw Their-Swords on one another

Le. I Sir, those are men that despite their lives.

Fa. Why that's it Labree that I would learn to do, And, which I fear, nothing but poverty will make me do: Fore defend me from that experiment.

Fore defend me from that experiment.

Enter Erminia weild with a thin Tiffary.

Labree. What's the mattery Sir; nent assen sont enough tom

Does the fit take you now?

Fa. Save us, fave us from the Fiend.

La. A Ghost, a Ghost, O. Q. O. They fall shaking on the ground.

Er. This was a happy mistake, Now I may pals with fafety

Fa. Look up, Labree, if thou hast any of that

Courage thou speakest of but now.

La. I dare not, Sir, experience yours I pray. Fa. Alas, alas, I fear we are both rank Cowards.

Las Rife Sir, 'tis gone.

For This was worfe than the fright Alcander put Me into by much.

ACT IV. SCENEIX and sold and CT IV. SCENEIX

Enter Philander and Cleontius.

Phi. I know he's fled to the Camp.

For there he only can fecure himfelf. Cle. I do not think it, Sir,

He's too brave too justifie an action Which was the out-rage only of his pallion,

That foon will toyle it felf into a Calm, And then will grow confiderate again, And hate the rathness it provok'd him too. and as going a name I

That shall not serve his turn go it should not now and Tell him I'll get his Pardon of the King Alean Vivas this min And fet him free from other fears of jultice, and in ingual I think ban But those which I intend to execute. And with I might have sen If he be brave he'll not refule this offer.

If not, I'le do as he has done by me, And meet his hated Soul by treachery. I TO A [Cle. goes out. --- And then I've nothing more to do but dye: —Ah how agreeable are the thoughts of death,
How kindly do they entertain my Soul, And tells it pretty tales of fatisfaction in the other world, That I shall dwell for ever with Erminia. but stay, down and That facred Spirit yet is unrevenged, V a ma I vagaa ma I nedw no I -l'le fend that Traytors Soul to eternal night, was all land Then mine shall take its so defired flight, I going out. Enter Erminia, calls bim. Er. Return Philander, whether wouldst thou fly ? Drowe wind I Phi. What voice is that Turns, fees ber, and is frighted. Er. Tis I my Prince, tis I. Phi. Thou—Gods—what art thou—in that lovely shape? Er. A Soul that from Elizium made escape [as she comes towards bim To visit thee, why dost thou steal away, be goes back in great amaze. I'le not approach thee nearer than I may. And can that beauty ought that's --- ill adorn? In every part Erminia does appear, And -fure no Devil - can inhabit there. THe comes on and kneels, one Alcan. My Lord the Prince. knocks, he feals back in at a door. Phi. Ha--Oh Gods, I charge thee not to vanish yet, look and both or study I charge thee by those powers thou dost obey, Not to deprive me of thy bleffed fight. Er. I will re-visit thee. T Enter Alcan. Phi. I'me not content with that, and and show a [Alcan, comes in. Stay, stay, my dear Erminia. Alcan. What mean you Sir? [He rifes, and looks fill offrighted. Phi. Alcander, look, look, how the glides away, Doft thou not fee't? Alcan. Nothing Sir, not I. Phi. No, now the's gone again. on he held e'ed work I de Alcan. You are disorder'd, pray fit down a while. 10 of stant to Phi. No, not at all Alcander, I'me my felf, I was not in a dream, nor in a passion When the appeared, her face a little pale, But else my own Erminia, the her felf il 2 and olvot have noor that I mean a thing as like, nay, it spoke too, bond is work in the bond And I undaunted answer'd it again, a devoid a souther one over he But when you knockt it vanisht. Alcan. 'Twas this Aminta would perfwade me to, And faith I laught at her. And wish I might have leave to do fo now. Destait I do now should tue isq if he be brave hell-hot relate this

Phi. You do displease me with your unbelief. Er. It is Alcander, I may trust him too. The peeps in on them and comes Phi. Look where the comes again, credit thy eyes, which did perswade thee that they saw her dead. Alcan. By Heaven and so they did both feem frighted. Gods—this—is wondrous—strange; yet I can 201 Bear it, if it were the Devil himself in that fair shape, Tody not ! . well Phi. And yet thou shakest-Alcan. I do. but know not why. -Inform us lovely spirit what thou art, white and the state of the sta A God-or Devil, if either thou art welcome, of smil real on A . a T Er. You cannot think Alcander, there be Ghofts, The groes ther bands No, give me your hand and prove mine fieth and blood, to bim and Phi. -Sir, you were wont to credit what I faid, which they refuse to touch. And I would fill merit that kind opinion. The HOY THEW Phi. Erminia, foul of fweetness, is it you? -How do you ravish with excels of joys? Oldo you and gent bank Er. Softly, dear Sir, do not express that joy, Wall of somewhat live al Left you deftroy it by your doing fo, I fly for fanctuary to your arms. As yet none knows I live but poor Ifillia, Who bathing of my cold face with her tears, Perceiv'd fome figns of life, and us'd what means all means are views back Her love and duty did infruct her in, 200 mid partition or a som and I in half an hour was 6 revived the love of t And I in half an hour was fo reviv'd. As I had fense of all was past and done. And to prevent a death I yet might fear, If mad Alcippus had returned again. -Alone I came to you, where I could find longer I ented antied A Gall, All that we know of lyin, Alone my fafety too. Phi. From Gods and men Erminia thou art fale, My best and blest Erminia. Er. Sir, in my coming hither I met Aminta, I was a bread her Whom I may fear has alarm'd all the Court pool may be a six of the standard of the cook me for a Ghoft, and ran away in a light in the bread of the Ere I could undeceive her. -Falatims too, affrighted even to death only ad much the men Alcan. Faith, that was lucky Madam. -Hark some body knocks, you'd best retire a little. [Leads ber into the door. Enter Gallacea and Armines hobted of a or radius byte Gal. An Brother, there's fuch news abroad on standy Phi. What dear Sifter, for I am here confired, Yuam gad anil and I And cannot go to meet it?

Gall. Erminias Ghost is seen, and I'me so frighted.

Espainia, may thy dreams be calm and fineet

	[56] on desirab ob the say
Di: Von mould not free	Lich X out appear of the X in Agricont t
Phi. 100 Monte of text 1	Allens Willy S.C. do you wink in the Control
For though the world had no	Which did perivade the consultation of the blad blad like Ermina.
For Bough the world had no	Ex It is all moder, the toll the little
A Would not lee get 3 not lor	Fair Look where the comes egain of
Alcan. But Waddin, Listo	Which did parriyade that that they did will
Alcan. Yes Aminta	Alcan, by Ficavell and to tay and
Am. Then there be Ghofts	military transfer and the second
DL: Aminta we'll convince	him . (Phi. leads out Er. w bo comes finiting
	The party of the p
But how dear creature wert t	hou thus preferred
Phi. Another time for that	but now let's think Aminta embraces
Later to preferve her fill	While the ment and the state of the according
Since all believe her dead by	Fr. You cannot think dender there be
And that they may remain in	that bleft error book may on aying old
I small associate species areas a first	state mate despeth
Shall as the fpirit of Erminia	Kon the Market in the Market I have
And reap the glory of fo good	And I would fill merit this will be the point of five einels, is it by the will be you ravilly with exacted and the world will exact the control over the contr
And Sifter to your care	f my life. Out to me.
I must commit the treasure o	f my life.
Gall. It was not kind, the	came not first to me.
Er. Madam, I fear'd the &	fery of my Prince van le punted of W
And every moment that I for	Who bething of my colored value of the parties of the and by left bour Perceived fome figures of the and by start to short snaw.
Were more tormenting, than	were those of death
Till I had undeceiv'd his app	rehentions.
Phi. 'Twas like thy felf, g	rehentions.
Thou might'ft have come to	my Murtherer in for yet suggister bem'll
Er. But Sir, pray where's	my Murtherer for yet
A Detter manie I cambet when	SOURCE DIADIAN
Gall. All that we know of	Alone my fafety too.
Pilare now inform'd him.	was training the strong
Who came just as he though	t he had murther'd thee, had had yet
And begg'd he would provide	for his own fafety.
The feeling toming timinen out of	Aritia di titalini di con di c
But out o'th' Court he knows	TIE CANNOT DAIS.
At this dead time of night;	oves or Gardens only know here the
But habelieves he is 1th Gre	oves or Gardens only whoo amor knowl
Alcan. I his is no place to	nake a longer flay in, and on the No
The King has many ipies abo	And cannot so to ment the Prince, so to your apartment, o to your apartment, o to your apartment, o to your apartment, o to your apartment or your
. I were good you would retir	e to your apartment of op some bala
Good night Prother	Gull stimulate Cook a lettery and cook
in cood ingin, brother.	THE RESERVE OF THE PROPERTY OF
Phi. Erminia, may thy drea	ims be caim and tweet

[57 32

As thou hast made my Soul, May nothing of the cruelty that's part bound but all sit lis or o nur off From which the Justice took of the production and a rule of the production which the Justice took of the production which the Justice took of the production with the production of the producti That was un-generous in him Remember it not fo much as in thy prayers to the as tol neve their bea Let me alone to thank the Gods for thee and bus wing and delmon had He To whom that bleffing only was ordained said bis of bib of flidw bus And when I lose my gratitude to Ficaven, 51 as this 20 as well as the second May they deprive me of the soys they've given show and the bear they

Councie, I thought with Eafe my mife v. Buont I alongo I found him fitting by a Fountain fide and the committed, but the committed had the called the committed by a found in fitting by a Fountain fide and the called the committed by a found in fitting b Whole tears had power to fwell the little tide down and bitt egaids lie t And brought him to twee the street breath and brought him to street breath and brought him to all I faid he leas a wind to the street breath and any reproaches too at last did and any reproaches too at last did and a Thicket he are the street breath and the street breath and the world where undifferent blue and bear the street breath and the street b The Moon the day fupply'd, and all below a secretarity on die bad Instructed, even as much as day could do not a fail to the sent lend gentlement in the sent lend of the sent And came to render this access ber band stainers flomle sid mort from the Gall. Pifare. Twasthe office man animosed-less with the slower of the work of Thus would be till his rage was almost french it is bimrolar at boot band. Thus would be till his rage was almost french it is bimrolar at boot and then in forcer terms he would have to be to be to be the till the transfer of the transfer And that belief made him forget to grieve. The Marble Statue Vinne, he miltook TO A

For fair, Erminia, and fueh things he fpoke;

Such unheard pallionate things as is not would move;

The Marble Statue's felf to fall in love; He'd kifs its breaft, and fay the kind was grown, good tomas I dish. And never mind, alas, 'twas femfelets' Rone of the some sow toda its 10 He took its hand, and to the houth had lad a woll air nwoft air But that it came not, and its flay Berray 1991b langer moor at ni ba Then would be bluth, and all athain a become sald and ob the so that His head declining, for a white be dumb;

His Arms upon his Breaft across would lay,
Then fenfibly and calling walk a way of said, and I bloom you do hop.
And in his walk a thousand things the faid, and I bloom you do hop. Which I forgot, yet fomething with mething of villagation and the He did confult the nature of the crime of the And fill concluded that twas fall in him and we make a great county

[58 72 As thou half made my Soul, He run o're all his life, and found no act May nothing of the cruekty this fact, was un-generous in him, but this fact, was under the him of the Approach the final the did grace usual and the first the much as it should be should b To whom that bleffing only And whilft he did fo, laid his grief afide. Then was as calm as e're he feemd to be the my mole I not when Pif. Yes, Madam, and a thousand things he said, By which much shame and passion he betray'd, And then 'twas, Madamal stept in and gave stalled wind Counfels, I thought him fittest to receive; I footh'd him up, and told him that the crime na event 1 349 I had committed, had the cale been mine jourb's and goight mid botto! ! I all things faid that might his griefs beguile, And brought him to the tweetness of a finile. I side 14 od med dod W To all I faid he lent a willing care the rese that a will like or With this infenfibly I drew him on the sol bluos I b'revocation and W And with my flatteries to upon him works It vloque was sait noold sait Such gentlenes infus'd into his breast As has disposed his wearied foul to rest, Sleeping upon a Couch I've left him now, a commit have and I plows. And came to render this account to you in a came from a sid more had I Gall. Pifaro. "Twasthe office of a friend." Ilw aid lo alument slody And thou'ft perform'd it to a generous end; spar aid list of bloow and T Go on and prosper in this new delign, would ame to let in And when thou it done, the glory shall be thine. And that belief made him forget to grieve.

The Marble Stall e B. M. B. Rigov TOA and fuel things he fpoke : Draws off, discovers Alcippus rifing from the Couch. Aleip. I cannot fleep, my ford is fo unfurnished Of all that fweetness which allow'd it reft. "Tis flown, 'tis flown, for ever from my breath, based si door And in its room eternal discords dwell set an and its come the black intrigues of Hell [Weeps, pulling out his handkerchief, drops a Oh my fortune_ Picture with the Glass on the Reverse. -What's here __ Alas, that which I dare not look on, a vidiland nerf I And yet, why should I shun that image here, shood a hier aid si boa Which I continually about me bear, w pour anol 1st, top of i child why, dear Picture, art thou fill to gay, anything it is not bear. Since the is gone, from whom thefe charms were borrow'd,

Those eyes that gave this speaking life to thine, Those lovely eyes are clos'd in endless darkness,

There

There's not a far in all the face of Heaven, But now out-shines those Suns. Suns at Noon day dispens'd not kindlier influences : And thou bleft mirrour, that haft oft beheld That face, which nature never made a fairer, Thou that so oft her beauties back reflected, And made her know what wondrous power there lay In every feature of that lovely face. But the will fmile no more! no more! no more! -Why, who shall hinder her? Death, cruel Death. -Twas I that murther'd her-Thou lyest - thou durst as well be damn'd to touch her, She was all facred, and that impious hand That had prophanely touch'd her, Had wither'd from the body. -I lov'd her-I ador'd her, and could I, Could I approach her with unhallowed thoughts? -No, no, I durft not. But as devouteft Pilgrims do the fhrine, - If I had don't, The Gods, who take the part of Innocence, Had been reveng'd-Why, if the Gods be just, and I had don't, Did they not fuffer earth to fwallow me, Quick—quick into her bosom— -But yet I fay again it was not I. Let me behold this face. That durst appear in such a Villany. He looks in the Glass. Enter Pisaro and Erminia drest like an Angel with Wings. Pif. Look, where he is. Erm. Alas, I tremble at the fight of him. Pif. Fear nothing, Madam, I'le be near you still. Er. Pray stay a little longer. Alcip. - My face has horror in't, pale and disfigur'd, And lean as Envy's felf-My eyes all bloody,—and my hanging lids Like Midnight's mischief, hide the guilty Balls, -And all about me calls me Murtherer: -Oh horrid Murtherer! That very found tears out my-hated foul, - And to compleat my ruine, I'le still behold this face where Murther dwells.

He looks in the Glass, Erminia steals behind him, and looks into it over his Shoulder; be is frighted.

Ha--What does this Glass present me?

[60] What art thou ? __ fpeak _ What art thou? Jurns by degrees son ards in. -Sure I am fixt, what shall the Devil fright me? Who food the Execution of a Murther? -Me, shall he fright-But 'tis that shape, and not thy Nature frights me? That calls ___ the blood out of my panting heart, __ in about on A -That Traytor heart that did conspire thy death. Er. Sit down and hear me ____ [In a tone like a Spirit, and points to To disobey, thy punishment shall be: a Chair, soft Musick begins to play, To live in endless torments, but ne're die. which continues all this Scene. Alcip. Thou threatnest high, bold Rebel. He fits within Er. Alcippus, tell me what you fee, he boron ils at world What is't that I appear to be?
Alcip. My blest Erminia Deify'd the Scene. Borus. Er. Alcippus, you inform me true, I am thus Deify d by you; To you I owe this bleft abode, non thub to For I am bappy as a God into b aming it it shows be stud And by that tale to end thy woe; Know, Mighty Sir, your Joy's begun, From what last Night to me was done; In vain you rave, in vain you weep, od allow edd it well For what the Gods muft ever keep var eant in they had bid In vain you mourn, in vain deplore, A loss which tears can ne're restore: The Gods their Mercies will dispence, In a more Glorious Recompence; A World of bleffings they we in store, A World of Honours, Victories more; Thou Shalt the Kingdoms Darling be, And Kings shall Homage pay to thee; Thy Sword no bounds to Conquest set, And thy success that Sword shall what; Princess thy Chariot-wheels shall grace, Whilst thou in triumph bring ft home Peace. This will the Gods, thy King yet more old ils and Will give thee what those Gods adore; And what they did create for thee; Alcippus look, for that is she. Enter the Princefs, and goes over the Stage as a Spirit, bows a little to Alcippus, and goes off. Alcip. The Princess! He offersto rife. Er. Be still ; 'tis fhe you must posses, 'Tis (he must make your bappines; Tis she must lead you on to find Those bleffings Heaven has design'd,

Tis

'Tis she'll conduct you where you'll prove

The perfect joys of grateful love.

Enter Aminta like Glory, Alcander representing Honour, They pass over, and bow, and go outen washe now to wake nature of shad bank as an indicate and bank as a shad out as a shad out and bank as a shad out a shad out as a shad out a shad out as a shad out a shad out as a shad out as a shad out as a sha

Glory and Honour wait on ber.

Enter two more representing Mars and Pallas, bow and go out.

With Pallas and the God of War, Fortune and Love which ne're agree.

and Love which ne're agree.

Enter Olinda like Fortune, a Page like Cupid, bow and goes out.

is Pifers, thad flads a dream,

Do now united bow to thee,

-Be wife, and of their Bounties share; to the

For if Erminia fill was bere, and soig live must be and the sale

Still subject to the toyls of life,

She never could have been thy Wife. sail I is you chawleng out world !

Who by the Laws of Men and Heaven range and very grade availed Hold

Was to anothers bosome given, and siell the ham and don't he

And what injustice thou hast done

Was only to thy Prince alone;

But be bas Mercy, can Redeem

Those ills which thou hast done to him, we will be in the state of the

- But fee, they all return again.

All the Difguis'd enter again and Dance, with Love in the midft, to whom as they dance, they in order make an offer of what they carry, which must be something to represent them by; which Love refuses with Nods, Still pointing to Alcippus, the Dance done, they lay them at bis feet, or feem to do for and go out di valore vasm of bid back

What think'st thou of thy destiny, and nothing or men hopswring and an

Is't not agreeable to thee?

Tell me Alcippus is't not brave?

Is it not better than a Grave?

Cast off yours tears, abandon grief, dent soon bluow of flive 1 to y tus --

And give what you have feen belief. my between he must a bluow that short no

Dress all your looks, and be as gay

As Virgins in the month of May; in flutte has sometide our staus your

Deck up that face where forrow grows, then by him od found it will

And let your fmiles adorn your brows ; ige and or ribero nebbel has en enil & to becaused me into another room;

Recal your wonted sweetness bome,

And let your eyes all Love become, would standed at wood bas it would sti

For what the Gods have will'd and faid, I bout some have some and

Thou hast no power to evade;

What they decree, none can wit bft and, hold nor bon slide a slaw its

You must abey what they command. of TShe goes out, be remains immoveable. Enter Pifaro. for a while.

Pil. How is it man __what speechles? .V TO A

Alcip. No-Ester Philander soith Pif. I left thee on the Bed, how camest thou here?

d call'd up formuch Nature to thy C

I here he faould oblige me.

And can interpret decame too.

Shat.

Alcip. I know not.

Pif. Have you flept? Alcip. Yes, ever fince you left me. And twas a kindness in thee now to wake me, For sleep had almost flattered me to peace, Which is a vile injustice.

-Ah Pilaro, I had fuch a dream, Such a fine flattering dream.

Pif. How was it pray?

Alsip. Nay, I will forget it, I do not merit fo much peace of mind, As the relation of that dream will give me, I hardly can perswade my self I slept, with the med sould have desired? Dost thou believe there may be apparitions? Pif. Doubtless, my Lord, there be.

Alcip. I never could believe it till this hour, By Heavens I think I faw them too, Pifaro.

Pif. 'Tis very possible you're not deceiv'd. Alcip. Erminia's Spirit, in a glorious form

Pif. I do believe you.

Aleip. Why, is't not ftrange?

Pif. It would have been, had I not heard already,

She has this Night appear'd to several persons,

In several thanks, the first transfer of the several persons, In several shapes; the first was to the Prince, And faid fo many pretty things for you.

As has perswaded him to pardon you.

Alcip. Oh Gods, what Fortune's mine?

I do believe the Prince is innocent

From all that thou hast said.

le in met besteckeben a Grave t. - But yet I wish he would dispose his bounties On those that would return acknowledgments : I hate he should oblige me.

Pif. You are too obstinate, and must submit.

Alcip. It cannot be, and yet methinks I give A strange and sudden credit to this Spirit, and made and make the many many substant It beckned me into another room; I'le follow it, and know it's business there.

Pif. Come Sir, I am a kind of Prophet. And can interpret dreams too.

We'll walk a while, and you should tell me all, And then I would advise you what to do.

ACT V. SCENE III. ____ sm is well.

Enter Philander with the King.

Kin. Thou'ft entertain'd me with a pretty Story, And call'd up so much Nature to thy Cause.

That

My liberty and my repose I gue 6 That I am half subjected to its Laws: To be admired but your flave; And can you question such a Vision within too Biv a double on the bank and I find the lovely Mother plead within too Biv a double on the bank and th And bids me put no force upon thy will a stain of mom refluit I flum TO Tells me thy flame should be as unconfind It needs not, force the clarical As that we felt when our two Souls combin'd: L'ought but the wound whe Alas, Philander, I am old and feeble, /m. Alcander, votelo mes And cannot long furvive : So many fight and tears, to mare But thou hast many Ages yet to number, when to real illustration and I had I h Of youth and vigour; and should all be wasted we as another anised from I In the Embraces of an unlov'd Maid : on or all manife, on or all No, my Philander, if that after death, as flower and a world and a Ought could remain to me of this worlda joys, and died start had I nod W I should remember none with more delight, the can follow your following the state of the state o Than those of having left thee truly happy. Phi. This goodness, Sir, resembles that of Heaven, Preserving what it made, and can be paid Only with grateful praise as we do that. Kin. Go, carry on your innocent defign, as a state and quella And when you've done, the last act shall be mine. The last act shall be mine. ACT V. SCENE IV. un gad vidmed I M Enter Aminta followed by Alcander, Erminia and Gallatea, goes out, enter Alcander and stays Aminta. ing factor Pile. In there are no lurrary Alcan. Stay, dear Aminta, do not fly to fasts low and for red bed I asiA Am. Methinks Alcander you should shun that maid, it of seissor hib rows Of whose too much of kindness you're afraids bedstery bedstery hereby the Twas not long fince you parted in fuch fewd, And fwore my treatment of you was too rude. You vow'd you found no beauty in my eyes, And can you now pursue what you despite ? indulating the Coffees to go. of Alcan. Nay, do not leave me yet, for fill your form de leave me yet, for fill your form Much better than your absence may be born on your as I eved to not said W Am: Well Sir, your business, for mine requires haft, Alcan. Say, fair Aminta, shall I never find an an annual state of says of the You'll cease this rigour, and be kind? Will that dear breaft no tenderness admit? For on even and even your the W And shall the pain you give no pity get ? you may similary suff and a live! Will you be never touch'd with what I fay ? mov work at it ov over tent I And shall my Youth and Vows be thrown away? You know my Paffion and my Humour too, And how Idve, though do not tell you for this a a latter at the Am. What Arguments will you produce to prove is a second but You love, for yet I'le not believe you love? The not proper and we all Alcan. Since, fair Aminta, I did thee adore, as her and a great an Alas I am not what I was before. My thoughts diforder'd from my heart do break, and sale rion and the And fighs destroy my language when I speak. My

My liberty and my repose I gave: That I am balf hibjected to us Laws: To be admitted but your flave; I find thy lovely Mother plead within within a Victory within please with a but I And bids me put no force upon thy Warin it sam of som rafful I flum 10 It needs not, fince their languishments can be d bluod small vit our alla ? Nought but the wounds which you alone can con an on which we had see Am: Alcander, you fo many Vows have paid is blo me I wanted sel A And cannot long furvive; So many fighs and tears, to many a Maid,

Eut thou half many Ages yet to what well and hould I credit give to what well and flowed all beauty and one as well as they did not be to what yet to the beauty and thou to the same and well as they did not be to want to the same and th -No, no, Alcander, I'le no more of that volnu as lo seement of the Alcan. Farewel Aminta, mayst thou want a fever it resembled van one want a fever it resemble on the wind a fever it resemble on the wind a fever it remained the wind extended in the wind extended it can indure your sober cruelty, and the wind it was a fewer ally the world it is a fewer ally the want in the world it was a fewer ally the world it was a fewer ally the world it was a fewer ally the world in t ACT V. SCENE V. and I saw governor Discovers a Room bung with Black, a Hearle standing in it with Tapers round about it. Alcippus weeping at it, with Ifflaquand other Women with long blick Veils round about the Hearfel Healt ach land show of your If. I humbly beg, my Lord you would forbear Alcip. Oh Ifillia, Thou knows not what vast treasure this incloses. This facred Pile, is there no forrow due to it? Alas, I bad her not farewel at parting to to be patienth 1800; year, mark, Nor did receive so much as one poor kingal woy whenth shades Mark - Ah wretched, wretched manua struct standard to down not storiw 10

Enter the Prince.

And twore my treatment of You yow'd you found no beauty in my eyes, Alcip. How, the Prince! How fuddenly my grief fubmits to dage you want you now purify with the hour but had been but the but had been but the Phi. Alcippus, why doft though zolthus on mey sol ton ob you manile What horror have I in my looks that frights thee % a ruoy nath rotted doubt Alcip. Why Sir, what makes you here? the sand aboy and low I have no more Wives, no more Brainia's, lindly samuels, vial was a more You'll cease this right, and be tand ? Alas the is dead-Will you not give her leave to reft in pleace and but on about ash that flow Phi. Is this the gratitude you pay my favours, eving not ming and that hat That gave ye life, after your wrongs no wne two bridges are new men ad noy liv But twas my Sifters kindness that preserved thee, bon dinoy you likely bas And I preferred my vengeance to the Gods I ven be nothed you would not Alcip. Your Sifter is a Saint whom taddre in ob agued of the work But I refuse a life that comes from young noy liw attenuate Ar guarden with Ifi. What mean you, Sir? Love Love believe you love ? I so you got the Ifi. Alcip. To speak a truth as dying men should down the form since, since, fair Aming bellevil Phi. Alcippus for my Sifters fake who loves you saw hand you and leal A I can bear more than this theyou know to y power, b'rabrolib and guest vid And hats defirey my language when I speak.

Miy.

nd I can make you fear?

Alcip. No, Prince, not whill I am in love with dying of the Phi. Your love to that I fee has made you impudent.

My life is but to the prince thought avoid it. And I can make you fear? If. The storm comes on, your highness should avoid it. Phi. Let him give place, l'le keep policilion here Gall. I will If. It is the Princels pleasure Sir, you quit the presence. Alcip. No, this I call my home.

And fince Erminia's here that does enable it for But only beg Without which Alcie, Mig I will not quit the prefence. Eure hould Phi. Gave thee a title to't, Alcippus? Alcan. Me, Philander and at yair of They come, to each others broast, and Aleip. Me, What dare you now it is small be med the first son of I so one it is the state of I so one it is the st Phi. Thee? Be witness Heaven how willy I'me compell'd. Alcip. Now Sir, you are brave, and love Erminia too. of you and The Women run all away crying, shey draw out form me may and former meother, leaving some their Veils behind them, form balf of belf movesball Phi. We are here not fafe, thefe Women will be travelle as airl a!-Aleio. Sir, tis a work that will foon be diffratcht, thew mid bloded And this a place and time most proper for to [Fal. peeps in and runs away. Enter Pifaro and the does very being and it is evils us level and it is the book from the book of the property What means your Highnes? I go go en's aleinos I Fle the Prime. Alcippus, what is't you defign in this it of lequal to not a too t'e side when the suppose of the side will be to the side wil alcip. To fight Pifaro, and be kill'd. on avigual bluos nov iduob of Pif. By Heaven you shall not fight, unless with me, good for fired And you have so angred mo with this mash action, drive andt I will I could almost provoke you to its o pardon this of university shall be brought to pardon this it is Alcan. Gods Sir, That you be blugged not so him language not to blugge you are him language not to blugge you are him language not to blugge you I hus expose your felf, The Worlds great Heir, againg a desperate mad many fill W. and By any gallant man Pif. Have you forgot your apparition Siriling offstourn our new you Alcip. Oh 'twas an idle lying one Pierolio antie a greater interest one Alcip. Oh 'twas an idle lying one Pierolio antie a greater interest one and a greater interest one a greater interest one and a greater interest one and a greater in And came but to intrap me. To them Gallatea, Aminta and Olinda. Gall. Ah Brother, why fo cruel to your Sifter Phi. Here Gallatea, punish my misfortune, For yet I want the will to injure thee in the land below the land Heaven knows what provocations I received the land the Gall. Unjust Alcippus, how dost thou reward me? Alcip. Ah Madam, I have too much shame to live. Had Heaven preserv'd my innocence intire, That I with confidence might have ador'd you,

1366] Though I had been fuccessless. And I can make your tribe to be a bound and hope of that are taken from the business of the business of that are taken from the business of the bu But fince all hopes of that are taken from me, it of avolution My life is but too poor a Sacrifice To make attonement for my fins to you. Gall. I will not answer thee to what thou half faid, But only beg thou wilt preferve thy life, Without which, mine will be of little use to me. I sid! Alcip. Might I without a fin believe this bleffing? Sure I should be immortal. Falatio peeps in again. Ref. I think I may venture, the fury is past, and the Great that spent, the mad Captain General's wounded, So, I hope 'twill let out some of his hot blood Enter the King, Cleontius, and Attendants. Kin. My love Akippar is despised I fee, and the work of And you in lieu of that return you owe me ther, leaving time their Veils behind them; Combination of movesball Phi. We are here not no work of sparously real feel and all al-Behold him well, Akippun bis your Prince and show a 21 . 118 Who dares gaze on him with arreverend eyes? The good he does you ought to adore him for, But all his evils 'tis the Gods must punish,'
Who made no Laws for Processing now one and bloth in Alone. Sir, I confess I'me culpable, standard your Higher what is't you defign in this to that it you defign in this to that it you defign in this to the could be so that it you defign in this to the could be so that it you defign in this to the could be so that it is to the could be so the could be so that it is to the could be so th To doubt you could forgive me, which of box , craft Trigit o'T , orall A I durft not hope your mer list rafter with hir square and ton fluid I And you have for a service of the lenderheld Pine guarges, of aved noy bank I hardly thall be brought to pardon thee! uov allowing flomla bluss I Phi. I humbly beg you will forgive him Sir, I drew him to it against his will, I forc'd him, Alens Gods Sir, Th And gave him language not to be indur'd I has expose your felt, By any gallant man. Kin. Whilst you intreactor him, who pleads for you is ablin W and For you are much the guiltier of the tuo moy togoth doy evel 1.9 And need'it a greater interest to performe the bi me and the diese. Aleip. It were not just to contradict my Prince that of Jud emas bas A Prince to whom I have been fo late a Traytor. But Sir, 'tis I alone am Crimina's or the But Sir, 'tis I alone am Chines, punish my majortune, I and twas I Gall, Ab Brother, why to cruel to And twas I. Justly I thought provok'd him to this hazard! I we and to Lev I bey to

Tis I was rude, impatient, infolent, and provided the word navied in

Tis I was rude, impatient, injoiene, and brow as wash blow I and bid like a mad man animate flis anger in or brow as wash blow I and like a generous enemy was not like a generous enemy. It have too much share of mach share of the start of lad Heaven preferr'd my innocence infire, That I with confidence might have ador'd you,

[67] Sir, when you weigh my forrows with this action, You'l find no base design, no willanythereum list sixing of I die But being weary of a life Thated, class is luck you also continue I dolk I strove to put it off, and missing that way double noiling back tarts to I come to make an offer of it heretoy bes abod and another that and I was Kin. If I should take it, tweete no more than just, a good find and bed Yet once again I will allow it thee, 1979 I necessary the short blunch I That thou mayeft owe the force fecond time, has showed land to Manage it better than the laft I gave out a new mind touch [Exit King. Phi - Alcippus, may I credit what thou'ft faid, is were break of break Or do you feigh repentance to deceive me ! and an interest individuals Alcip. I never could diffemble at my best, And now methinks your highness should believe me, When my dispairs, and little love to life your bed you bed Makes me dispife all ways that may preserve it abowing area blow W Phi, If thou would'it have me credit thee, alicippus, facorque Thou should'st not disesteem a life, which ought To be preserved to give a proof that what thou say's is true, And disposses me of those fears, I have, y is sup reven live I dealed That 'tis my life makes thine displea sing to thee flow and alust a sew Alcip. 'Tis a high proof to give you of my duly, dolon 7279 E. I Yet that's more ease to me, than your unbelief and id daidward bea Phi. Let me imbrace and thank thee for this goodness. He offers to imbrace bim, but be is fly, and keeps a little off. Why dost receive me coldly, I'm in earnest, and a guard I best bank As I love Honour, and effects thee Generous, some need worth that I I mean thee nothing but a perfect friendthlp; ovare bon flui it mishor? By all my hopes I've no more quarrels to thee, which will All ends in this imbrace, and to confirm it I give thee here my Sister to thy Wife. and grow apparent of in unkind delay, Alcip. Your Pardon Sir, I must refuse your bounty till I know, it was mout I boilean but By what strange turn of fate I came thus bleft, wight I said a To you my-Prince, I've done unheard of injuries quit advant five M And though your mercy do afford me life, With this rich present too; Till I could know I might diferve them both, a small had not make the That life will prove a Plague, and this great gift Turn to the torment of it. 1 hen suches 10 , paid out Phi. Alcippus, 'tis not kind to doubt me still, Is this a prefent for a man I hate? The prow good of fired and Alcip. Tis true Sir, and your bounty does amaze me, and and and Can I receive a bleffing of this magnitude and avigral way med ad With hands, yet have not wash'd away the fin 1, svigt a nest 500 Of your Erminia's murther, think of that, Sir, or magnat and 124 of For though to me it did appear mon just, bir pailed aid; sow vo W Yet you must hate the man that has undone you. working it

.lled hat hed you known it ere the last own't one,

Gall. I fee Erminia fill usurpa your thoughts. and sad on buil fee Alcip. I must confess my soul is scarce diversed in the reason hand Of that fond paffion which I had for her alien bas also it may of grown I But I protest before the Gods and you and at he made up admin of and Did the still live, and I might still possess her, I would refuse it, though I were ignorant works I'm telling a series and Of what the Gods, and your fair felf delign me, we also sent from the Sophia To doubt thee were a fin below my nature, and a succession Ard to declare my faith above my feat, thene I vent and Behold what I present thee with. [Goes out, and enters again with Ermin.ia [He looks affrighted. Alcip. Ha - Erminia. It is the same-appeard to me last night, may assisted what his V. Lea my dispare, abit'll ele jove to hie And my deluded fancy. Would have perswaded me twas but a dream, will of qubern sexual Phi. Approach her, Sir, 'tis no fantafin. Alcip. 'Tis the her felf, Oh Gods, Erminia! [She goes a little back as -Ah madam do not fear me in this posture, afraid; be kneels. Which I will never quit till you have pardon'd me; am salledid but It was a fault the most excusable, haright ankit soulam out wm'en sail' That ever wretched Lover did committe or loong duid sell deals. And that which hindred me from following thee, Was that I could not well repent the Crime; the operation and a series But like a furly finner fac'd it out, And faid, I thought twas just; yes, fair Erminis im s. Son flob yd 77 Hadit thou been mine, I would ith' tace of Hoaven, Proclaim it just and brave revenge at fishing a tud griphon was a mean But, Madam, you were Wife to my Prince, And that was all my fin: 1 mg aco or bus constant all ... Alas, in vain I hop'd for some return,
And grew impatient of th' unkind delay,
And frantickly I then out-run my happiness, and me years again Er. Rife, I forgive thee, from my foul I do Mayst thou be happier, In thy more glorious passion for the Princels, And all the joys thou e're could'ft hope from me, Mayft thou find there repeated and word by a 1 His Enter King, Orgulious, and the reft.

Org. First, I'le keep word with thee. Receive the welcom present which I promis'd [Gives him Erminia, Er, Can you forgive the griefs i've made you fuffer; fhe kneels, Org. I can forgive, though twas not kind ton aven ay a board dai W To let me languish in a desperate errors radinum stimmed and 10 Why was this Bleffing hid from me alone; Labor ou or disuggested Er. Ah Sir, so well I know you lov'd Alcippus, That had you known it e're the Pripce had own'd me,

Kies Come, my brave

I fear you had reftor'd me back again; A fin too great to load your Soul withal. " I have any marky bank

Org. My King already has forgiven that errous, and now I nome to make my peace with thee. And now I nome to make my peace with thee, And that I may with greatest spead obtain it.

To you, Sir, I refign her, with as much joy To the Prince When you remembel every

As when they undeceived me

Of my opinion of her being dead at him to roller may the north and i

Phi. And I with greater joy receive your gift. Thous and sakes ber.

Kin. My Lord Alcippus, are you pleas'd with this Alcip. Sir, I am fo pleas'd, fo truly pleas'd with it,

That Heaven without this bleffing on my Prince Had found but little trouble from my thanks,

From all they have showr'd on me;

Twas all I wisht next my Pretensions here. Kin. Then to compleat thy happiness,

Take Gallatea, fince her passion merits thee, As do thy Vertues her.

[Gives him Gall. they both bow. Er. Sir, I've an humble fuit t' your Majesty.

Kin. Conclude it granted then.

Er. Falatim, Sir, has long made love t' Ifillia,

And now he'as gain'd her heart, he flights the Conquest, Yet all the fault he finds is that she's poor.

Kin. Ifillia's Beauty can supply that want,

Falatius, what d' fay to't?

Fa. By Fove Sir, I'le agree to any thing; for I believe A handforn young Wife at Court may bring a Man a Greater Fortune than he can in conscience desire.

Er. Aminta, be perswaded. Am. He'd use me scurvily then.

Alcan. That's according as you behav'd your felf, Aminta.

Am. I fhould domineer.

Alc. I then should make love elsewhere, Am. Well, I find we shall not agree then.

Alc. Faith - now we have disputed a point I never Thought on before, I would willingly Pursue it for the Humour on't : not that I think

I shall much approve on't.

Pif. Give him your hand Aminta, and conclude, 'Tis time this haughty humour were fubdu'd. By your submission, whatsoe're he seem,

In time you'll make the greater flave of him.

Am. Well - not from the hope of that, but from my love

His change of Humour I'm content to prove. --- Here take me, Alcander ;

Whilst to Inconstancy I bid adieu, In find variety enough in you.

He takes her and bows.

[takes Ifillia.

[afide to Am,

11/2/81

[70]

Kin. Come, my brave Youths, we'l toil our felves with joys. And when wre weary of the lazy play, We'll fearch abroad to find new Conquests out, panis and will and A fin too givest to load yo And get fresh appetites to new delights; And now I nome to mak It will redouble your vast stock of courage, And that I may with And make th' uneafie Humour light and gentle; 10, you, Sir, 1r When you remember even in heat of Battel, As when they undeceive That after all your victories and spoil; You'll meet calm peace at home in foft Embraces. Of my opinion of her Thus may you number out your happy years, Ker. My Lord alafe Till Love and Glory no more proofs can give dicie, Elt. Lamb Of what they can bestow, or you receive.

That Heaven without this identify to work on world and yell what he had found but little trouble from the fixed but little trouble from the fixed but the have fixed but the fixed but fixed but the fixed but fixed but

Nie. Inllas Rearly can (apply that wars,

Talaries, what a few vow?

The law Your Sir, The agree to dry that for I believe

A haid amy the five to determ my tribina.

October I control than in contract of the control of the control

Esfele to Am.

En. Amin's, he periwaged I N I T .

Alean. That's according as you behav'd your felt, Asinta. 113.

Acr. I thould domineer.

Ale. I then thould make love effewhere.

Am. Well. I find weed all not agree then.

Me. Faith — now we have disputed a point I haver or wit ni
Thought on before, I would willing!
I hought in for the laumour en't; not that I think

Yet all the fault be finds is that facts prort

Py Give him your hand similar, and or glude, 'The time this haughty humour were staduid.
By your fubmillion, what he're he teem,
In time you'll make the greater flave of h.m.

As Welf not from the hope of that, but from my leve

the change of Flumour in content to prove.

Whilli to Leonflyney I bed asless to find variety except in you.

The teles ber and your

The was the all